HISTORY OF ALLIED ARTISTS PICTURES

ALLIED ARTISTS PICTURES CORPORATION evolved from MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION in 1930, under the leadership of W. Ray Johnston, its president, who formed the company with a group of independent exchange men who were distributors for its predecessor, Rayart Productions, founded by Mr. Johnston in 1924. The exchange owners who distributed Rayart product had previously formed a co-operative organization merging distribution units. This nucleus was incorporated as Monogram with Mr. Johnston as president. Trem Carr headed production, and Edward A. Golden joined the organization as sales manager.

In the first year of operation the company produced 28 features. Two years later it entered the worldwide market with Pathe as British distributor, and Empire Films, Ltd., as Canadian outlet. The United States and Canada was served through 37 affiliated exchanges. For 1932-33 the company produced 32 pictures, and in the next year increased its production budget one third. Mr. Johnston marked his 29th anniversary in the business in 1952.

During the autumn of 1935, Mr. Johnston, Trem Carr and Herbert Yates formed Republic Pictures, incorporating the Monogram exchanges as distribution outlets. A year later Mr. Johnston and Mr. Carr withdrew from Republic and revived Monogram, creating a new system of franchise distribution.

In succeeding years the company gradually heightened the quality of its productions, with Mr. Johnston again as president and Trem Carr as executive director in charge of production. Number of annual feature releases has been maintained at between 40 and 50.

In November, 1945, Steve Broidy, formerly general sales manager, was elected president of Monogram, with Mr. Johnston becoming chairman of the board. Issue of 100,000 shares of 5½% convertible preferred, voted in January, 1945, has since been redeemed, and the authorized capitalization of the company is now represented by 1,500,000 shares, increased by 500,000 by stockholders' authorization on Nov. 12, 1953, of common stock, par value $1.

Allied Artists franchise holders currently includes Nate Schultz, Cleveland; Mrs. Howard Stubbins Estate and Mel Hulling, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland. The company operates its own branches in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Oklahoma City, Dallas, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Memphis, Charlotte, New Orleans, Albany, Buffalo, Boston, New Haven, Jacksonville and Milwaukee.

In November, 1946, Allied Artists Productions, Inc., was formed as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Monogram Pictures Corporation, to handle production of high-budget pictures exclusively. Physical distribution of the Allied Artists films is handled by the existing Allied Artists exchanges, but otherwise the new company is treated as a separate entity.

On Nov. 12, 1953, the corporate name was changed from Monogram Pictures Corporation to Allied Artists Pictures Corporation.

Stratford Pictures Corp. organized August, 1949, with Steve Broidy, president, and George D. Burrows vice-president, distributes foreign language films in this country, using Monogram exchanges.

In 1951, the company engaged in the production of films for TV and for that purpose organized the Interstate Television Corporation, which is now called Allied Artists Television Corp.

HISTORY OF COLUMBIA PICTURES

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP. was incorporated January 10, 1924. The company's origin traces back to Harry Cohn, who was an independent producer making shorts. Jack Cohn resigned from Universal to go into the motion picture business for himself. The firm of Jack and Harry Cohn was then organized. Later Jack and Harry Cohn prevailed upon Joseph Brandt, who had been the General Manager of Universal to join them. The name of the company was changed to CBC Sales Corporation. Later it was changed to Columbia.

October 18, 1919; under the laws of Delaware.

HISTORY OF METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER, INC.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc., formerly known as

Loew's Inc., took its original name from its founder, the late Marcus Loew, a pioneer in the nickelodeon and arcade era of the movies. Among his early associates were Adolph Zukor and the brothers Joseph M. and Nicholas M. Schenck. For years the organization was active exclusively in film exhibition, chiefly in theatres with a mixed picture and vaudeville policy. In 1910, after several years of expansion, Marcus Loew organized Loew's Consolidated Enterprises. The next year this was succeeded by Loew's Theatrical Enterprises, extending the scope of theatre operations from New York into other cities.

By 1919, Loew's had partial or entire control of 56 theatres. Loew's, Inc., was organized in October, 1919, and acquired the stock of Loew's Theatrical Enterprises. Continuing a policy of gradual expansion of theatre interests, business had reached a point where Marcus Loew, Nicholas M. Schenck and other executives were looking about for a way of uniting their theatre interests to an active production organization. This problem was met in 1920 with the acquisition of the stock of Metro Pictures Corporation, which later turned out such films as "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Scaramouche," and "The Four Horsemen."

The move to fortify the playing schedules of the Loew Theatres with an annual production output proved sound, and further expansion was in order. In 1924, Marcus Loew and his associates made successful overtures for the interests in the Goldwyn Company, which had been started in 1917, and Loew's became the owner of the merged Metro-Goldwyn stock. Shortly afterwards producing assets of Louis B. Mayer Pictures, including the services of Mayer, Irving Thalberg and J. Robert Rubin were acquired by the company and the production organization controlled by Loew's took the name Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Important executive posts in the new production organization were held by the late Louis B. Mayer, the late Irving Thalberg and J. Robert Rubin.

In 1926 and 1937, to simplify the corporate structure, legal control of the entire production and distribution organization was vested in Loew's, Inc., with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer being used merely as a trade name.

In the spring of 1949, the silver anniversary of M-G-M productions was celebrated. Among notable pictures in company history have been "The Big Parade," silent "Ben Hur," "Grand Hotel," "Dinner at Eight," "The Thin Man," "David Copperfield," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Captains Courageous," "Goodbye Mr. Chips," "Mrs. Miniver," "Gone With the Wind," produced by David O. Selznick, released by M-G-M.; "Madame Curie," "The Yearling," "Battleground," "King Solomon's Mines," "Quo Vadis" "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," and many others.

Loew's, Inc., for some years produced from forty to fifty feature pictures annually and turned out an average of fifty short subjects each season, in addition to the distribution of the newsreel, "News of the Day."

On February 6, 1952, the consent decree against Loew's, Inc. was signed in New York. It provided for a divorce between the producing and distributing phases of the corporation and its domestic exhibition activities and interests.

Trade practice and other provisions of the Loew's decree generally followed those of the earlier decrees. Pursuant to the consent decree referred to above, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiary Loew's Theatres Inc. entered into a Reorganization Agreement providing for the transfer by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc. of its theatre assets located in the United States and Canada and Radio Station WMGM to Loew's Theatres Inc. in exchange for all of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock of Loew's Theatres Inc. and the distribution of said shares of Common Stock to the stockholders of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc. on the basis of one share of such stock for each share of Common Stock of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc. to be thereafter outstanding. At the same time the outstanding shares of stock of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc. were reclassified by the filing of an amendment to its Certificate of Incorporation which changed each of its issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock without par value into ½ of a share of Common Stock without par value.

HISTORY OF PARAMOUNT

PARAMOUNT PICTURES CORP., currently in production, as well as in distribution, may be said to have taken most of its origins from the activities of Adolph Zukor, who entered the amusement field in the dawn years with a penny arcade, with Hale's Tours, a motion picture exhibition device, and with nickelodeon theatres, including an early association with the late Marcus Loew in those undertakings. Mr. Zukor in 1912 formed the Engadine Corporation, to distribute an imported picture, which evolved into his Famous Players Film Company, which was to make famous plays with famous players in them. W. W Hodkinson, emerging from General Film Company, the "trust" of the day, in 1914 formed Paramount Pictures Corporation, which took over distribution of the Zukor product and along with it the product of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company and others. This led to a course of mergers, with Mr. Zukor dominant.

Famous Players-Lasky Corporation was incorporated on July 19, 1916. In 1917 twelve producing companies merged with it. At the same time the corporation integrated production and distribution by acquiring a national distribution system through a merger with Artcraft Pictures Corporation and Paramount Pictures Corporation.

In 1919 the corporation started its theatre acquisition program. It acquired stock interest in Southern Enterprises, Inc., with 135 theatres in the South; in 1920 it acquired stock interest in New England Theatres, Inc., with 50 New England theatres; in the Butterfield Theatre Circuit with 70 theatres in Michigan about 1926; in Balaban & Katz with 50 theatres in Illinois at the same time. Later numerous theatres in the West and Middle West were acquired.

Paramount's first great star was Mary Pickford, around whom Mr. Zukor built his Famous Players. The roster of the organization has included a preponderance of the great names of the screen. "The Covered Wagon," and "The Ten Commandments" are landmarks of Paramount tradition.

In April, 1927, the corporate name was changed to Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, and in April, 1930, to Paramount Publix Corporation. In 1933, Paramount Publix Corporation was adjudicated a bankrupt in the Federal District Court for the Southern District of New York. In June, 1935, it was reorganized under Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act under the name of Paramount Pictures, Inc.

Barney Balaban, president, arrived through the field of exhibition, starting on Chicago's West Side with a nickelodeon which developed into the Balaban & Katz circuit, dominant in the Chicago area.

Jacob H. Karp is the vice-president in charge of studio production. The Hollywood studios annually turn out a program of quality feature pictures. The company also produces and releases a program of one-reel and two-reel short subjects.

In December, 1949, as a result of the reorganization required by the Consent Decree in the action of the Government against the major companies, Paramount split into two companies—Paramount Pictures Corporation, for production-distribution, and United Paramount Theatres, Inc., for theatre operation. (See Theatre Circuits).

Paramount was the first motion picture company to recognize the potential importance of television particularly from a theatre standpoint. In 1939 it formed a subsidiary, Paramount Television Productions, Inc., which operates Station KTLA in Hollywood. Paramount is also a pioneer in pay-television through its Division, International Telemeter Company.

HISTORY OF THE COMPANY

RKO General, Inc. is the successor of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc, which for several decades was the principal picture producing and distributing subsidiary of the RKO enterprise. However, Radio Pictures' corporate and business existence long antedated the RKO enterprise, having been formed in 1921 and participating in the early evolution of motion pictures as a principal form of entertainment for the public. During that period its business was conducted under various corporate names and it was associated with the so-called Robertson-Cole operation.

From 1928 until the end of 1950 the RKO enterprise was headed by Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation, as the top holding company in which was integrated by stock ownership the operations of many corporations engaged in the production and distribution of motion pictures and the operation of theatres. The enterprise was originally conceived by Radio Corporation of America, looking to its place in the development of the sound picture, and the principal subsidiaries were originally F.B.O. Productions, Inc. (RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.), which was a producer and distributor of motion pictures having a studio in California; Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation which, toegther with B. F. Keith Corporation, controlled many important circuits of theatres in the eastern part of the United States, and Orpheum Circuit, Inc., which controlled important circuits of theatres in the western part of the United States. Later various other exhibition and production and distribution interests were acquired by the enterprise, including RKO Proctor Corporation, RKO Midwest Corporation, RKO Southern Corporation, and various elements of Pathe Exchange, Inc., including the Pathe newsreel and production assets and an additional studio in California.

Between January, 1933, and January, 1940, the RKO parent company was in equity receivership and subsequently reorganization proceedings with Irving Trust Company as receiver and trustee, but those proceedings did not involve the principal subsidiaries. The proceedings were terminated with the plan of reorganization which became effective January 27, 1940, which continued the enterprise under a new holding company with the same corporate name.

In the Summer of 1947 RKO sold the Pathe Newsreel to Warner Brothers, but retained the commercial and television film production business formerly associated with the newsreel, which was continued in its then subsidiary RKO Pathe, Inc.

Around 1935 Atlas Corporation acquired from Radio Corporation of America control over RKO, and its operations were during that control under the supervision of Floyd B. Odlum, as chairman of the board; N. Peter Rathvon, as president, and Ned E. Depinet, as executive vice-president and picture production head. In the spring of 1948 Atlas Corporation sold its stock interest in RKO to Howard R. Hughes, and thereafter the operations continued under the supervision of Ned E. Depinet, as president, and C. J. Tevlin, as vice-president and head of production. Early in 1953 Mr. Depinet retired and James R. Grainger became president.

As of January 1, 1951, a further plan of reorganization became effective which resulted in a divorcement of the theatre operating assets from the picture producing and distributing assets of RKO, all pursuant to a consent decree entered after extensive litigation with the Department of Justice under the anti-trust laws. Under this plan of reorganization, stockholders of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation received in exchange therefor shares of two new companies—RKO Theatres Corporation and RKO Pictures Corporation, to which the above-mentioned assets were respectively transferred.

Subsequent to the above-mentioned plan of reorganization Mr. Hughes sold his stock in RKO Theatres Corporation to interests headed by Alfred A. List and the RKO theatre operations are now integrated in List Industries, Inc. In the Fall of 1952 Mr. Hughes effected a sale of his stock in RKO Pictures Corporation to a syndicate headed by Ralph Stolkin of Chicago, but the sale proved to be abortive and after a brief period of operation by the purchaser, control was regained by Mr. Hughes.

Thereafter a number of stockholders' suits were brought involving Mr. Hughes and the management of RKO Corporation. This litigation was in effect compromised and settled when, as of March 31, 1954, Mr. Hughes purchased from RKO Pictures Corporation all of its assets, including all of the capital stock of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., for approximately $23,000,000 in cash, equivalent to $6 per share of its outstanding stock.

In the Summer of 1955 Mr. Hughes sold all of the assets which he had so acquired from RKO Pictures Corporation to General Teleradio, Inc., a subsidiary of The General Tire & Rubber Company, and thereafter the operation of those assets was headed by Thomas F. O'Neil. As of December 31, 1955 General Teleradio, Inc., was merged into RKO Radio Pictures, Inc. with the new name of the resulting corporation being RKO Teleradio Pictures, Inc. and this name was changed to RKO General, Inc. on October 26, 1959.

After the above-mentioned sale by RKO Pictures Corporation of all of its operating assets to Mr. Hughes, RKO Pictures Corporation continued in existence for several years with its management husbanding its assets which consisted of cash and securities. During that period its principal stockholders were Mr. Hughes and Atlas Corporation, which it developed had acquired a substantial amount of stock about the time of the sale of its operating assets to Mr. Hughes. After the sale a considerable number of the smaller stockholders elected to receive on redemption of their stock their pro rata share of the purchase price at $6 per share of stock. As of May 31, 1956, RKO Pictures Corporation was merged into Atlas Corporation and its remaining stockholders (other than Atlas Corporation), including Mr. Hughes, received shares of capital stock of the successor Atlas Corporation pursuant to the merger agreement.

RKO General, Inc. also owns and operates television and radio stations in: New York, New York (WOR); Boston, Mass. (WNAC); Los Angeles, California (KHJ); Memphis, Tenn. (WHBQ); Detroit-Windsor (CKLW); Hartford, Conn. (WHCT).

Radio Stations only in: San Francisco, California (KFRC); Washington, D.C. (WGMS).

HISTORY OF REPUBLIC CORPORATION

REPUBLIC PICTURES CORPORATION is the outgrowth of a development which started when its founder, H. J. Yates, one time member of the executive staff of the American Tobacco Company, entered the motion picture industry in 1915 with Hedwig Laboratories and launched Republic Laboratories in New York in 1918. That in turn was introductory to a procedure by which he took over the Eastman Kodak Company's motion picture laboratories, and acquired the Rothacker Laboratories in Chicago in 1924, crystalizing into the concern now known as Consolidated Film Industries.

Laboratory connections brought Mr. Yates into association with production and picture financing. In May, 1935, under his auspices four independent producing companies merged to form Republic Productions, Inc., producing unit, and subsequently, Republic Pictures Corporation.

The Consolidated Film Industries division has increased its facilities in laboratories on the West Coasts.

In November of 1945, stockholders of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., voted the merger and consolidation of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc. and Republic Pictures Corporation with Setay Company, Inc., the corporate name of which was changed to Republic Pictures Corporation. Name changed from Republic Pictures Corp. to Republic Corporation April 6, 1960.

DATE AND PLACE OF INCORPORATION
As Fox Film Corp., February 1, 1915; New York, Succeeded by Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp., July 22, 1932, Delaware.

HISTORY OF TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX

TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX FILM CORPORATION is the end result of a business begun back in the nickelodeon days of show business by William Fox. In little more than 45 years, the company has grown to a $150,000,000 corporation, operating a 75-acre studio in Los Angeles, producing annually from 20 to 30 features, over 24 shorts and 104 newsreels.

At the turn of the century, Mr. Fox, then in textiles, entered the arcade and nickelodeon business and became a member of the exhibition firm of Fox, Moss and Brill. His associates were B. S. Moss and Sol Brill. This association led to the establishment by Mr. Fox of a film exchange, the Greater New York Film Rental Company. In 1913 he organized the Box Office Attraction Company, later acquiring the services of Winfield Sheehan, associated with Mr. Fox for many years.

February 1, 1915, the Fox Film Corporation was founded with the intention of combining production, exhibition and distribution under one name. Film exchanges were established in a dozen cities throughout the country. Today the company has 80 domestic branches and the offices located throughout the world.

In 1917, with the shift of production from the seat to the west coast, Fox Films moved into its Sunset Studio in Hollywood.

When sound came to the industry, in 1926, Fox Film was able to use the pioneering efforts of Theodore Case and Earl I. Sponable, who invented Movietone, a sound-on-film process.

About 1929 there started a series of reorganizations and financial deals and involvements, principal of which was the purchase by Fox Films of control of Loew's, Inc., for approximately $44,000,000. By order of the Government, the Fox Company's ownership of Loew's was later dissolved and various banking interests acquired control of the stock in the Loew Company.

During these reorganizations, William Fox's connections with the company were discontinued. Sidney R. Kent joined the company as executive vice-president on April 1, 1932, and two weeks later became the company's president. Mr. Kent continued as president until his death, early in 1942.

In 1935, the Fox Film Corporation was merged with a major producing organization, Twentieth Century Pictures, headed by Joseph M. Schenck, and the company assumed its present corporate name. This merger brought Darryl F. Zanuck into the company as vice-president in charge of production of the merged organizations. Mr. Schenck became chairman of the board and continued in that position until his resignation in June, 1942, when Wendell L. Willkie took over the post.

Darryl F. Zanuck remained as Production Head until 1956, when he resigned to enter independent production. Buddy Adler succeeded Darryl F. Zanuck as Production Head. Upon Mr. Adler's death, Robert Goldstein and then Peter G. Levathes took over studio reins.

Following Mr Kent's death, Spyros P. Skouras, a leading theatre operator, became president. On July 25, 1962, Darryl F. Zanuck was elected president and Spyros P. Skouras was named chairman of the board.

The company does not operate or directly own any theatres in the U. S. The company has a controlling interest in the Hoyt's group of about 180 theatres in Australia. Twentieth Century-Fox has an interest in Amalgamated Theatres, Ltd., comprising 50 theatres in New Zealand. It also has interests in theatres in Egypt, Holland, Colombia, South Africa and Chile.

By decree entered June 7, 1951, 20th Century-Fox separated into a new producing-distributing and a new theatre company on Sept. 27, 1952. The decree provided that National Theatres, formerly a wholly-owned subsidiary, divest itself of 91 theatres and four parcels of real estate not later than June 7, 1953. Additional divestiture is required in the event that, in certain competitive situations, independent competitors do not continue to operate theatres on the runs referred to in the decree or in the event that National, in operating its theatres in certain situations, adopts certain definitely specified operating policies.

In December 1952 the company acquired rights to an anamorphic lens developed by French theoretical optician Professor Henri Chretien and on February 2, 1953, the company announced adoption of the CinemaScope process. Shortly thereafter demonstrations of the process, projecting pictures in a 2:55 to 1 aspect ratio, were held in principal cities of the U. S. and abroad. The process comprises, in addition to the anamorphic lens, a 4-track stereophonic sound system, and a screen two and one half times as wide as standard screens. "The Robe," first CinemaScope picture, had its world premiere September 16, 1953, at the Roxy Theatre, New York. In its first seven days, the film grossed $264,428, net after amusements taxes to set a new world box-office record for a single week of business.

In accordance with the Consent Decree in the Government trust case, the divorcement of the National Theatres from Twentieth Century-Fox became effective Sept. 27, 1952.

HISTORY OF UNITED ARTISTS

United Artists Corporation was organized in April of 1919, in sequel to a meeting of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin and D. W. Griffith at the home of William G. McAdoo in Santa Barbara. It had grown out of a suggestion to those stars made by Oscar Price, publicity and promotional assistant to Mr. McAdoo when he was Secretary of the Treasury and the stars were helping sell Liberty Loans.

Mr. Price was the first president, soon to resign and withdraw with Mr. McAdoo. Hiram Abrams took over. Later Joseph M. Schenck became the head of the concern, to be succeeded in turn by Al Lichtman, who was followed by the administration of Dr. Atillio H. Giannini and George Schaefer, who was succeeded by Maurice Silverstone, who resigned at mid-year of 1941. Of the founders, the remaining stockholders are Miss Pickford, Charles Chaplin and the Douglas Fairbanks estate. Sir Alexander Korda became a stockholder in 1935; Samuel Goldwyn, retiring from the organization in March of 1941, sold his stock to the company; then in April, 1944, Korda also sold his stock to the corporation, and terminated his American distribution arrangement with it.

In July, 1950, Miss Pickford and Mr. Chaplin each sold 3,600 shares of the 4,000 shares owned by each of them to a syndicate represented by Paul V. McNutt who became chairman of the board.

In February, 1951, a new syndicate acquired management of the company. The group was composed of Arthur B. Krim, former president of Eagle-Lion Classics, Inc.; Robert Benjamin, president of the J. Arthur Rank Organization (America), Inc.; Matthew Fox, former vice-president of Universal-International; William J. Heineman, U.A. vice-president in charge of distribution; Max E. Youngstein, vice-president in charge of world-wide advertising, publicity and exploitation; and Arnold Picker, vice-president in charge of foreign distribution. By showing a profit for 1951—the company's first year "in the black" since 1948—the syndicate, in January, 1952, was enabled to take 10-year management control of United Artists with ownership of 50 percent of the stock and voting control of the remaining 50 percent owned by Miss Pickford and Mr. Chaplin.

In February, 1955, the Arthur Krim management group acquired Mr. Chaplin's 25 per cent interest in the corporation, leaving as the sole shareholders Miss Pickford, with one third of the remaining stock, and the Krim interests, which own the balance.

On February 23, 1956, the Krim group acquired 100 per cent ownership of the company by purchasing Miss Pickford's holdings.

In April, 1957, the company became publicly owned for the first time in its history through an offering of $17,000,000 in debentures and common stock. The issue consisted of $10,000,000 of 6 per cent convertible subordinated debentures, due May 1, 1969, and 350,000 shares of common stock priced at $20 per share. A total of 250,000 shares were sold for the company's account and the remaining 100,000 shares sold for the account of the management group headed by Benjamin and Krim. The eight-man management team continued to hold majority control of stock after the sale.

HISTORY OF UNIVERSAL

Universal Pictures has a history stemming from the pioneer days of the industry. The company was formed under the title, "Universal" in 1912, when Carl Laemmle amalgamated Bison 101, Nestor, Powers and several other organizations, including his own Imp firm. Carl Laemmle had entered the picture business as an exhibitor, opening the White Front Theatre on Milwaukee Avenue, Chicago, February 24, 1906.

He founded Laemmle Film Service on October 1 of that year, quit the Patents Company in April, 1909, and released his first Independent Motion Picture (Imp) Company "feature", "Hiawatha", length, 988 feet, on October 25, 1909.

In that experimental epoch, Universal launched the star system by hiring Florence Lawrence for $1,000 a week and billing her as "Queen of the Screen." The studio also produced the screen's initial "exposé" film, "Traffic in Souls", first film to be reviewed by the drama critics of the daily press.

Universal acquired a studio at Sunset Boulevard and Gower Street in 1914, and began making pictures in Hollywood. In 1915, production was moved to the present site, Universal City. Here appeared Wallace Reid, Lon Chaney, Mary Pickford, Rudolph Valentino and Boris Karloff, among many others.

"Foolish Wives", "first million-dollar feature", "The Hunchback of Notre Dame", "All Quiet On the Western Front", and screen dramas of like import, were filmed in the decades which followed.

On March 16, 1920, Carl Laemmle and R. H. Cochrane assumed complete control of the company.

On April 2, 1936, Universal passed under new management, with J. Cheever Cowdin as chairman of the board. On January 6, 1938, Nate J. Blumberg became president of the company.

Under the new management Universal embarked upon the policy of developing star values and has been most successful during the time it has operated in the establishment of such names as Deanna Durbin, Abbott & Costello, Maria Montez, Donald O'Connor and others under contract.

During 1946, the company underwent its second transformation. Production-wise, it eliminated the production of all so-called "B" pictures, Westerns and serials, following a merger and acquisition of the assets of International Pictures Corp. of Leo Spitz and William Goetz. Mr. Spitz and Mr. Goetz became the production heads, and Universal-International trademark emerged.

Secondly, Universal completed a distribution deal with the J. Arthur Rank organization for the American distribution of the top British pictures produced by the Rank affiliated companies.

The year 1946 also saw the emergence of United World Pictures, a wholly-owned Universal subsidiary, to handle the production and distribution of non-theatrical films. United World acquired the Bell and Howell Filmsound Library of 6,000 subjects. It then purchased Castle Films, the largest seller of non-theatrical packaged films to the home. The year 1950 saw the resignation of J. Cheever Cowdin with Mr. Blumberg assuming full command. Alfred E. Daff, who had been foreign sales manager, assumed the top post in the foreign distribution setup and then became director of world sales with the resignation of W. A. Scully—a post without parallel in the industry. Mr. Scully will continue until 1954 as domestic sales consultant. Charles J. Feldman was appointed domestic sales manager under Mr. Daff and Americo Aboaf foreign sales head.

In November, 1951 Decca Records acquired approximately 28 per cent of Universal's common stock to make it the largest single stockholder in the company. For this interest Decca paid $3,773,914 for the 234,900 shares involved and the right to purchase 32,500 additional warrants, according to a report made by Milton R. Rackmil, president of Decca, to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

He reported that of these shares, 78,000 were purchased on the New York Stock Exchange, while the balance, most of which formerly was owned by the Paul G. Brown estate, was bought from Gertrude Bergman, Maurice A. Bergman, Lewis Fox Blumberg, N. J. Blumberg, Vera F. Blumberg, Alfred E Daff, Edith Mayer Goetz, William Goetz, Doris Jean Mayer and Leo Spitz.

The warrants were purchased from N. J. Blumberg and Doris Jean Mayer, at a reported price of $5 each. The purchases on the New York Stock Exchange were made at current market prices; the purchases from the individuals named were made at prices reached as a result of negotiations. Purchase of the holdings of Spitz and Goetz changed their status to that of employes under contract. Both continued in their posts, Spitz as executive head of production and Goetz as executive in charge of production. Their block of about 150,000 shares was acquired at approximately $15 a share. Blumberg's holdings included 15,000 shares and 32,500 warrants. In announcing the purchase, Rackmil declared, "The ownership of these shares will bring about a close association between our two companies. We have kindred interests in the entertainment business. These interests can be developed for our mutual benefit. The transaction indicates the confidence that our respective companies have in the future of the motion picture and allied industries."

In the spring of 1952, Decca Records became the controlling stockholders of Universal. Its interests were acquired partly in the open market and partly through the purchase of all J. Arthur Rank's stock in the company. As a result, Milton R. Rackmil, president of Decca Records, was made a member of the Universal board and subsequently elected president of Universal in July, 1952. In June of 1962, M.C.A., Inc., exchanged its common and a newly-issued preferred stock for Decca capital stock leading to a consolidation of the two companies and making Universal Pictures Company the theatrical film producing division of M.C.A., Inc.

The Production Code

THE ORIGIN OF THE PRODUCTION CODE

AT MID-YEAR in 1929, while the screen was engaged in the initial adjustments arising out of the acquisition of sound and the spoken word, Martin Quigley, industry trade journal publisher, observed a growing trend of departure from the level of accepted moral standards. The causes were many, dominant among them the influence of both material and precedent from the stage theatre which had come to serve principally sophisticated metropolitan minorities. Along with this he noted, among industry executives, a rising sense of responsibility and a purpose to accept the inherent responsibilities of the revolutionized medium.

After a study of the situation, Mr. Quigley undertook the formulation of a specific program designed to render guidance to producers in the problems due to the moral and social implications of screen material. Reverend Daniel A. Lord, S.J., of St. Louis, a trained moralist with an interest in the theatre, was invited into conference and active collaboration. Late in 1929 the document identified as "The Production Code" was completed.

Mr. Quigley engaged the interest of Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., and in the ensuing January of 1930 the Code idea and document were presented by Mr. Quigley and discussed at a series of meetings of the producers of the organized industry in Hollywood. In a subsequent formal meeting the Production Code was adopted by the Producers Association and its adoption was ratified March 31, 1930, by the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., which organization is now known as the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc.

Rather extensive revisions were made in the Code in 1956 in order to bring it up to date.

THE CODE:

The Motion Picture Production Code was formulated and formally adopted by the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc. (California), and the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (New York), in March, 1930.

Motion picture producers recognize the high trust and confidence which have been placed in them by the people of the world and which have made motion pictures a universal form of entertainment.

They recognize their responsibility to the public because of this trust and because entertainment and art are important influences in the life of a nation.

Hence, though regarding motion pictures primarily as entertainment without any explicit purpose of teaching or propaganda, they know that the motion picture within its own field of entertainment may be directly responsible for spiritual or moral progress, for higher types of social life, and for much correct thinking.

On their part, they ask from the public and from public leaders a sympathetic understanding of the problems inherent in motion picture production and a spirit of cooperation that will allow the opportunity necessary to bring the motion picture to a still higher level of wholesome entertainment for all concerned.

GENERAL PRINCIPLES:

1. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience shall never be thrown to the side of crime, wrongdoing, evil or sin.

2. Correct standards of life, subject only to the requirements of drama and entertainment, shall be presented.

3. Law—divine, natural or human—shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

PARTICULAR APPLICATIONS:

I. CRIME:

1. Crime shall never be presented in such a way as to throw sympathy with the crime as against law and justice, or to inspire others with a desire for imitation.
2. Methods of crime shall not be explicitly presented or detailed in a manner calculated to glamorize crime or inspire imitation.
3. Action showing the taking of human life is to be held to the minimum. Its frequent presentation tends to lessen regard for the sacredness of life.

4. Suicide, as a solution of problems occurring in the development of screen drama, is to be discouraged unless absolutely necessary for the development of the plot, and shall never be justified, or glorified, or used specifically to defeat the ends of justice.
5. Excessive flaunting of weapons by criminals shall not be permitted.
6. There shall be no scenes of law-enforcing officers dying at the hands of criminals, unless such scenes are absolutely necessary to the plot.
7. Pictures dealing with criminal activities in which minors participate, or to which minors are related, shall not be approved if they tend to incite demoralizing imitation on the part of youth.
8. Murder:
   (a) The technique of murder must not be presented in a way that will inspire imitation.
   (b) Brutal killings are not to be presented in detail.
   (c) Revenge in modern times shall not be justified.
   (d) Mercy killings shall never be made to seem right or permissible.
9. Drug addiction or the illicit traffic in addiction-producing drugs shall not be shown if the portrayal:
   (a) Tends in any manner to encourage, stimulate or justify the use of such drugs; or
   (b) Stresses, visually or by dialogue, their temporarily attractive effects; or
   (c) Suggests that the drug habit may be quickly or easily broken; or
   (d) Shows details of drug procurement or of the taking of drugs in any manner; or
   (e) Emphasizes the profits of the drug traffic; or
   (f) Involves children who are shown knowingly to use or traffic in drugs.
10. Stories on the kidnapping or illegal abduction of children are acceptable under the Code only (1) when the subject is handled with restraint and discretion and avoids details, gruesomeness and undue horror, and (2) the child is returned unharmed.

II. BRUTALITY:

Excessive and inhumane acts of cruelty and brutality shall not be presented. This includes all detailed and protracted presentation of physical violence, torture and abuse.

III. SEX:

The sanctity of the institution of marriage and the home shall be upheld. No film shall infer that casual or promiscuous sex relationships are the accepted or common thing.

1. Adultery and illicit sex, sometimes necessary plot material, shall not be explicitly treated, nor shall they be justified or made to seem right and permissible.
2. Scenes of passion:
   (a) These should not be introduced except where they are definitely essential to the plot.
   (b) Lustful and open-mouth kissing, lustful embraces, suggestive posture and gestures are not to be shown.
   (c) In general, passion should be treated in such manner as not to stimulate the baser emotions.
3. Seduction or rape:
   (a) These should never be more than suggested, and then only when essential to the plot. They should never be shown explicitly.
   (b) They are never acceptable subject matter for comedy.
   (c) They should never be made to seem right and permissible.
4. The subject of abortion shall be discouraged, shall never be more than suggested, and when referred to shall be condemned. It must never be treated lightly or made the subject of comedy. Abortion shall never be shown explicitly or by inference, and a story must not indicate that an abortion has been performed. The word "abortion" shall not be used.
5. The methods and techniques of prostitution and white slavery shall neve be presented in detail, nor shall th subjects be presented unless shown in contrast to right standards of ber havior. Brothels in any clear identifie cation as such may not be shown.
6. Sex perversion or any inference of it is forbidden.
7. Sex hygiene and venereal diseases are not acceptable subject matter for theatrical motion pictures.
8. Children's sex organs are never to be exposed. This provision shall not apply to infants.

IV. VULGARITY:

Vulgar expressions and double meanings having the same effect are forbidden. This shall include but not be limited to such words and expressions as chippie, fairy, goose, nuts, pansy, S.O.B., son-of-a. The treatment of low, disgusting, unpleasant, though not necessarily evil, subjects should be guided always by the dictates of good taste and a proper regard for the sensibilities of the audience.

V. OBSCENITY:

1. Dances suggesting or representing sexual actions or emphasizing indecent movements are to be regarded as obscene.
2. Obscenity in words, gesture, reference, song, joke or by suggestion, even when likely to be understood by only part of the audience, is forbidden.

VI. BLASPHEMY AND PROFANITY:

1. Blasphemy is forbidden. Reference to the Deity, God, Lord, Jesus, Christ, shall not be irreverent.
2. Profanity is forbidden. The words "hell" and "damn," while sometimes dramatically valid, will if used without moderation be considered offensive by many members of the audience. Their use shall be governed by the discretion and prudent advice of the Code Administration.

VII. COSTUMES:

1. Complete nudity, in fact or in silhouette, is never permitted, nor shall there be any licentious notice by characters in the film of suggested nudity.
2. Indecent or undue exposure is forbidden.
   (a) The foregoing shall not be interpreted to exclude actual scenes photographed in a foreign land of the natives of that land, showing native life, provided:
      (1) Such scenes are included in a documentary film or travelogue depicting exclusively such land, its customs and civilization; and
      (2) Such scenes are not in themselves intrinsically objectionable.

VIII. RELIGION:

1. No film or episode shall throw ridicule on any religious faith.
2. Ministers of religion, or persons posing as such, shall not be portrayed as comic characters or as villians so as to cast disrespect on religion.
3. Ceremonies of any definite religion shall be carefully and respectfully handled.

IX. SPECIAL SUBJECTS:

The following subjects must be treated with discretion and restraint and within the careful limits of good taste:

1. Bedroom scenes.
2. Hangings and electrocutions.
3. Liquor and drinking.
4. Surgical operations and childbirth.
5. Third degree methods.

X. NATIONAL FEELINGS:

1. The use of the flag shall be consistently respectful.
2. The history, institutions, prominent people and citizenry of all nations shall be represented fairly.
3. No picture shall be produced that tends to incite bigotry or hatred among peoples of differing races, religions or national origins. The use of such offensive words as Chink, Dago, Frog, Greaser, Hunkie, Kike, Nigger, Spig, Wop, Yid, should be avoided.

XI. TITLES:

The following titles shall not be used:

1. Titles which are salacious, indecent, obscene, profane or vulgar.
2. Titles which violate any other clause of this Code.

XII. CRUELTY TO ANIMALS:

In the production of motion pictures involving animals the producer shall consult with the authorized representative of the American Humane Association, and invite him to be present during the staging of such animal action. There shall be no use of any contrivance or apparatus for tripping or otherwise treating animals in any unacceptably harsh manner.

REASONS SUPPORTING THE CODE

I. Theatrical motion pictures, that is, pictures intended for the theatre as distinct from pictures intended for churches, schools, lecture halls, educational movements, social reform movements, etc., are primarily to be regarded as entertainment.

Mankind has always recognized the importance of entertainment and its value in rebuilding the bodies and souls of human beings.

But it has always recognized that entertainment can be of a character either helpful or harmful to the human race, and in consequence has clearly distinguished between:

a. Entertainment which tends to improve the race, or at least to recreate and rebuild human beings exhausted with the realities of life; and

b. Entertainment which tends to degrade human beings, or to lower their standards of life and living.

Hence the moral importance of entertainment is something which has been universally recognized. It enters intimately into the lives of men and women and affects them closely; it occupies their minds and affections during leisure hours; and ultimately touches the whole of their lives. A man may be judged by his standard of entertainment as easily as by the standard of his work.

So correct entertainment raises the whole standard of a nation.

Wrong entertainment lowers the whole living conditions and moral ideals of a race.

Note, for example, the healthy reactions to healthful sports, like baseball, golf; the unhealthy reactions to sports like cockfighting, bullfighting, bear baiting, etc.

Note, too, the effect on ancient nations of gladiatorial combats, the obscene plays of Roman times, etc.

II. Motion pictures are very important as art.

Though a new art, possibly a combination art, it has the same object as the other arts, the presentation of human thought, emotion and experience, in terms of an appeal to the soul through the senses.

Here, as in entertainment,

Art enters intimately into the lives of human beings.

Art can be morally good, lifting men to higher levels. This has been done through good music, great painting, authentic fiction, poetry, drama. Art can be morally evil in its effects. This is the case clearly enough with unclean art, indecent books, suggestive drama. The effect on the lives of men and women is obvious.

Note: It has often been argued that art in itself is unmoral, neither good nor bad. This is perhaps true of the thing which is music, painting, poetry, etc. But the thing is the product of some person's mind, and the intention of that mind was either good or bad morally when it produced the thing. Besides, the thing has its effect upon those who come into contact with it. In both these ways, that is, as a product of a mind and as the cause of definite effects, it has a deep moral significance and an unmistakable moral quality.

Hence: The motion pictures, which are the most popular of modern arts for the masses, have their moral quality from the intention of the minds which produce them and from their effects on the moral lives and reactions of their audiences. This gives them a most important morality.

1. They reproduce the morality of the men who use the pictures as a medium for the expression of their ideas and ideals.
2. They affect the moral standards of those who, through the screen, take in these ideas and ideals.

In the case of the motion picture, this effect may be particularly emphasized because no art has so quick and so widespread an appeal to the masses. It has become in an incredibly short period the art of the multitudes.

III. The motion picture, because of its importance as entertainment and because of the trust placed in it by the peoples of the world, has special moral obligations.

A. Most arts appeal to the mature. This art appeals at once to every class, mature, immature, developed, undeveloped, law abiding, criminal. Music has its grades for different classes; so have literature and drama. This art of the motion picture, combining as it does the two fundamental appeals of looking at a picture and listening to a story, at once reaches every class of society.

B. By reason of the mobility of a film and the ease of picture distribution, and because of the possibility of duplicating positives in large quantities, this art reaches places unpenetrated by other forms of art.

C. Because of these two facts, it is difficult to produce films intended for only certain classes of people. The exhibitors' theatres are built for the masses, for the cultivated and the rude, the mature and the immature, the self-respecting and the criminal. Films, unlike books and music, can with difficulty be confined to certain selected groups.

D. The latitude given to film material cannot, in consequence, be as wide as the latitude given to book material. In addition:

a. A book describes; a film vividly presents. One presents on a cold page; the other by apparently living people.

b. A book reaches the mind through words merely; a film reaches the eyes and ears through the reproduction of actual events.

c. The reaction of a reader to a book depends largely on the keenness of the reader's imagination; the reaction to a film depends on the vividness of presentation.

Hence many things which might be described or suggested in a book could not possibly be presented in a film.

E. This is also true when comparing the film with the newspaper.

a. Newspapers present by description, films by actual presentation

b. Newspapers are after the fact and present things as having taken place; the film gives the events in the process of enactment and with the apparent reality of life.

F. Everything possible in a play is not possible in a film:

a. Because of the larger audience of the film, and its consequential mixed character. Psychologically, the larger the audience, the lower the moral mass resistance to suggestion.

b. Because through light, enlargement of character, presentation, scenic emphasis, etc., the screen story is brought closer to the audience than the play.

c. The enthusiasm for and interest in the film actors and actresses, developed beyond anything of the sort in history, makes the audience largely sympathetic toward the characters they portray and the stories in which they figure.

Hence the audience is more ready to confuse actor and actress and the characters they portray, and it is most receptive of the emotions and ideals presented by its favorite stars.

G. Small communities, remote from sophistication and from the hardening process which often takes place in the ethical and moral standards of groups in larger cities, are easily and readily reached by any sort of film.

H. The grandeur of mass settings, large action, spectacular features, etc., affects and arouses more intensely the emotional side of the audience.

In general, the mobility, popularity, accessibility, emotional appeal, vividness, straightforward presentation of fact in the film make for more intimate contact with a larger audience and for greater emotional appeal.

Hence the larger moral responsibilities of the motion pictures.

REASONS UNDERLYING THE GENERAL PRINCIPLES

I. No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the sympathy of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrong-doing, evil or sin.

This is done:

1. When evil is made to appear attractive or alluring, and good is made to appear unattractive.

2. When the sympathy of the audience is thrown on the side of crime, wrong-doing, evil, sin. The same thing is true of a film that would throw sympathy against goodness, honor, innocence, purity or honesty.

Note: Sympathy with a person who sins is not the same as sympathy with the sin or crime of which he is guilty. We may feel sorry for the plight of the murderer or even understand the circumstances which led him to his crime. We may not feel sympathy with the wrong which he has done.

The presentation of evil is often essential for art or fiction or drama.

This in itself is not wrong provided:

a. That evil is not presented alluringly. Even if later in the film the evil is condemned or punished, it must not be allowed to appear so attractive that the audience's emotions are drawn to desire or approve so strongly that later the condemnation is forgotten and only the apparent joy of the sin remembered.

b. That throughout, the audience feels sure that evil is wrong and good is right.

II. Correct standards of life shall, as far as possible, be presented.

A wide knowledge of life and of living is made possible through the film. When right standards are consistently presented, the motion picture exercises the most powerful influences. It builds character, develops right ideals, inculcates correct principles, and all this in attractive story form. If motion pictures consistently hold up for admiration high types of characters and present stories that will affect lives for the better, they can become the most powerful natural force for the improvement of mankind.

III. Law—divine, natural or human—shall not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation.

By natural law is understood the law which is written in the hearts of all mankind, the great underlying principles of right and justice dictated by conscience.

By human law is understood the law written by civilized nations.

1. The presentation of crimes against the law is often necessary for the carrying out of the plot. But the presentation must not throw sympathy with the crime as against the law nor with the criminal as against those who punish him.

2. The courts of the land should not be presented as unjust. This does not mean that a single court may not be represented as unjust, much less that a single court official must not be presented this way. But the court system of the country must not suffer as a result of this presentation.

REASONS UNDERLYING PARTICULAR APPLICATIONS

I. Sin and evil enter into the story of human beings and hence in themselves are valid dramatic material.

II. In the use of this material, it must be distinguished between sins which repel by their very nature, and sins which often attract.

a. In the firstclass come murder, most theft, many legal crimes, lying, hypo risy, cruelty, etc.

b. In the second class come sex sins, sins and crimes of apparent heroism, such as banditry, daring thefts, leadership in evil, organized crime, revenge, etc.

The first class needs less care in treatment, as sins and crimes of this class are naturally unattractive. The audience instinctively condemns all such and is repelled.

Hence the important objective must be to avoid the hardening of the audience, especially of those who are young and impressionable, to the thought and fact of crime. People can become accustomed even to murder, cruelty, brutality, and repellent crimes, if these are too frequently repeated.

The second class needs great care in handling, as the response of human nature to their appeal is obvious. This is treated more fully below.

III. A careful distinction can be made between films intended for general distribution, and films intended for use in theatres restricted to a limited audience. Themes and plots quite appropriate for the latter would be altogether out of place and dangerous in the former.

Note: The practice of using a general theatre and limiting its patronage during the showing of a certain film to "Adults Only" is not completely satisfactory and is only partially effective.

However, maturer minds may easily understand and accept without harm subject matter in plots which do younger people positive harm.

Hence: If there should be created a special type of theatre, catering exclusively to an adult audience, for plays of this character (plays with problem themes, difficult discussions and maturer treatment) it would seem to afford an outlet, which does not now exist, for pictures unsuitable for general distribution but permissible for exhibitions to a restricted audience.

I. CRIMES AGAINST THE LAW

The treatment of crimes against the law must not:

1. Teach methods of crime.
2. Inspire potential criminals with a desire for imitation.
3. Make criminals seem heroic and justified.

Revenge in modern times shall not be justified. In lands and ages of less developed civilization and moral principles, revenge may sometimes be presented. This would be the case especially in places where no law exists to cover the crime because of which revenge is committed.

Because of its evil consequences, the drug traffic should not be presented except under careful limitations.

II. BRUTALITY

Excessive and inhumane acts of cruelty and brutality have no proper place on the screen.

III. SEX

Out of regard for the sanctity of marriage and the home, the triangle, that is, the love of a third party for one already married, needs careful handling. The treatment should not throw sympathy against marriage as an institution.

Scenes of passion must be treated with an honest acknowledgment of human nature and its normal reactions. Many scenes cannot be presented without arousing dangerous emotions on the part of the immature, the young or the criminal classes.

Even within the limits of pure love, certain facts have been universally regarded by lawmakers as outside the limits of safe presentation.

In the case of impure love, the love which society has always regarded as wrong and which has been banned by divine law, the following are important:

1. Impure love must not be presented as attractive and beautiful.
2. It must not be the subject of comedy or farce, or treated as material for laughter.
3. It must not be presented in such a way as to arouse passion or morbid curiosity on the part of the audience.

4. It must not be made to seem right and permissible.
5. In general, it must not be detailed in method and manner.
6. Certain places are so closely and thoroughly associated with sexual life or with sexual sin that their use must be carefully limited.

IV. VULGARITY

This section is intended to prevent not only obviously vulgar expressions but also double meanings that have the same effect.

V. OBSCENITY

Dances which suggest or represent sexual actions, whether performed solo or with two or more; dances intended to excite the emotional reaction of an audience; dances with movement of the breasts, excessive body movements while the feet are stationary, violate decency and are wrong.

This section likewise applies to obscene words, gestures, references, songs, jokes and gags.

VI. BLASPHEMY AND PROFANITY

It is clear that neither blasphemy nor profanity should be permitted on the screen.

VII. COSTUMES

General principles:

1. The effect of nudity or semi-nudity upon the normal man or woman, and much more upon the young and upon immature persons, has been honestly recognized by all lawmakers and moralists.
2. Hence the fact that the nude or semi-nude body may be beautiful does not make its use in the films moral. For, in addition to its beauty, the effect of the nude or semi-nude body on the normal individual must be taken into consideration.
3. Nudity or semi-nudity used sim ply to put a "punch" into a picture comes under the head of immoral actions. It is immoral in its effect on the average audience.
4. Nudity can never be permitted as being necessary for the plot. Semi-nudity must not result in undue or indecent exposures.
5. Transparent or translucent materials and silhouette are frequently more suggestive than actual exposure.

VIII. RELIGION

The reason why ministers of religion may not be portrayed as comic characters or as villains so as to cast disrespect on religion is simply because the attitude taken toward them may easily become the attitude taken toward religion in general. Religion is lowered in the minds of the audience because of the lowering of the audience's respect for a minister.

IX. SPECIAL SUBJECTS

Such subjects are occasionally necessary for the plot. Their treatment must never offend good taste nor injure the sensibilities of an audience.

The use of liquor should never be excessively presented. In scenes from American life, the necessities of plot and proper characterization alone justify its use. And in this case, it should be shown with moderation.

X. NATIONAL FEELINGS

The just rights, history, and feelings of peoples and nations are entitled to most careful consideration and respectful treatment.

XI. TITLES

As the title of a picture is the brand on that particular type of goods, it must conform to the ethical practices of all such honest business.

XII. CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

The purpose of this provision is to prevent the treatment of animals in films in any unacceptably harsh manner.

The Advertising Code Administration is a department of Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. Members of the Advertising Advisory Council are the directors of advertising and publicity of the principal motion picture companies. They are charged with the administration of an "Advertising Code," voluntarily adopted by members on June 6, 1930. The Advertising Code has been amended from time to time as conditions required. The official Code follows:

AN ADVERTISING CODE:

The purpose of the Advertising Code is to apply to motion picture advertising, publicity and exploitation, within their range, the high principles which the Production Code applies to the content of motion pictures.

The provisions of the Advertising Code shall apply to pressbooks, newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising, publicity material, trailers, posters, lobby displays and all other outdoor displays, novelty distribution, radio copy and every form of motion picture exploitation.

We urge all motion picture producers, distributors, and exhibitors, and their advertising agents, whether affiliated with the undersigned or not, to adhere to these principles; and for ourselves, we pledge compliance with these principles without reservation.

1. We subscribe to a code of business ethics based upon truth, honesty and integrity. All motion picture advertising shall: (a) conform to fact, (b) scrupulously avoid all misrepresentation.
2. Good taste shall be the guiding rule of motion picture advertising.
3. Illustrations and text in advertising shall faithfully represent the pictures themselves.
4. No false or misleading statements shall be used directly, or implied by type arrangements or by distorted quotations.
5. No text or illustration shall ridicule or tend to ridicule any race, religion or religious faith; no illustration of a character in clerical garb shall be shown in any but a respectful manner.
6. The history, institutions and nationals of all countries shall be represented with fairness.
7. Profanity and vulgarity shall be avoided.
8. Pictorial and copy treatment of officers of the law shall not be of such a nature as to undermine their authority.
9. Specific details of crime, inciting, imitation, shall not be used.
10. Motion picture advertisers shall be guided by the provision of the Production Code that the use of liquor in American life shall be restricted to the necessities of characterization and plot.
11. Nudity with meretricious purpose and salacious postures shall not be used; and clothed figures shall not be represented in such manner as to be offensive or contrary to good taste or morals.
12. Court actions relating to censoring of pictures, or other censorship disputes, are not to be capitalized in advertising or publicity.
13. Titles of source materials or occupations or names of characters on which motion pictures may be based should not be exploited in advertising or upon the screen if such titles or such names are in conflict with the provisions of the Production Code affecting titles.
14. No text or illustration shall be used which capitalizes, directly or by implication, upon misconduct of a person connected with a motion picture thus advertised.

Regulations for the Administration of the Advertising Code

(The following Regulations were adopted by the Board of Directors of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., April 22, 1948, and amended June 21, 1950.)

1. These regulations are applicable to all members of the Motion Picture Association of America, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as the "Association"), subsidiaries of a member producing or distributing motion pictures, and to all producers and distributors of motion pictures with respect to each picture for which the Association has granted its Certificate of Approval, pursuant to an application therefor.

2. The term "advertising" as used herein shall be deemed to mean all forms of motion picture advertising and exploitation, and ideas therefor, including, among other things, but without limitation thereto, the following: press books; still photographs; newspaper, magazine and trade paper advertising; publicity copy and art intended for use in press books or otherwise intended for general distribution in printed form or for theatre use; trailers; posters, lobby displays and other outdoor displays; advertising accessories, including heralds, throwaways, etc.; novelties; copy for exploitation tie-ups; radio and television copy.

The term "Company" as used herein shall be deemed to mean any person, firm or corporation.

3. All advertising shall be submitted to the Advertising Code Administration of the Association for approval before use, and shall not be used in any way until so submitted and approved as hereinafter set forth. All advertising shall be submitted in duplicate with the exception of press books, which shall be submitted in triplicate.

4. The Advertising Code Administration shall proceed as promptly as it finds feasible to approve or disapprove the advertising submitted on the basis of whether it complies with the Advertising Code.

The Advertising Code Administration shall stamp its approval on one copy of all advertising approved and return such stamped copy to the Company submitting the same. If the Advertising Code Administration disapproves of any advertising, there shall be stamped the word "Disapproved" on one copy thereof, which shall be returned to the Company submitting the same; or, if the Advertising Code Administration so desires, it may return the same with suggestions for such changes or corrections in the advertising as will cause it to be approved.

5. After advertising for a motion picture shall have been approved by the Advertising Code Administration, if circumstances arise, either before or after the picture's release, which in the judgment of the Administrator seem to require the withdrawal of all, or any portion of such previously approved advertising, then, after consultation with the Advertising Advisory Council, he shall immediately file a written report with the President and Secretary of the Association (a) setting forth the situation existing at the time such prior approval was granted for such advertising, (b) reciting the intervening circumstances with resultant changes in the situation, (c) listing the reasons why in the opinion of the Administrator all or a designated portion of the advertising previously approved should be withdrawn and (d) certifying that if such advertising were then being presented to him for the first time, it would not be approved by him under the Advertising Code for stated reasons.

If the President of the Association (or a Vice-President of the Association in the absence of the President), upon receipt of such report from the Advertising Code Administration, is of the opinion that the situation presented is sufficiently serious to justify consideration by the Board of Directors, the Secretary of the Association shall be instructed to call immediately an emergency meeting of the Board at which meeting the Board shall sit as a Board of Appeal with adequate opportunity for the producer and/or distributor of the motion picture to appear in person or through a duly authorized representative and present reasons orally or in writing, or both, as to why the prior approval of the advertising should be affirmed, and with adequate opportunity for the Administrator of the Advertising Code to appear and present reasons, either orally or in writing, or both, as to why in his judgment all or a designated portion of such previously approved advertising should be withdrawn.

Thereafter, the Board, meeting in executive session with the producer and/or distributor of the picture not voting, shall determine by vote of a majority of the Directors present and voting, whether all or any portion of the previously approved advertising shall be withheld from use and/or withdrawn, and such action of the Board of Directors shall be final and binding upon the producer and/or distributor of said film.

When any previously approved advertising for a motion picture is withdrawn pursuant to action of the Board hereunder, the company withdrawing same shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board. The amount of such reimbursement shall be prorated among all members of the Association including the company affected on the same basis as dues to the Association are currently paid.

If neither the producer nor the distributor of said film is a member of the Association, then the non-member withdrawing such advertising shall be reimbursed the unrecoverable portion of its out-of-pocket expenditures for such advertising by the members of the Association to the extent deemed equitable and proper under all the circumstances by the Board.

6. Appeals. Any Company whose advertising has been disapproved may appeal from the decision of the Advertising Code Administration, as follows:

Within ten days after its advertising has been disapproved, it shall serve notice of such appeal in writing on the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and on the Secretary of the Association. Said notice of appeal shall set forth the grounds upon which the appeal is taken. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of such notice by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration and the Secretary of the Association, the President or, in the event of his absence from the country or his inability to act, a board consisting of three members of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Association appointed by him, shall hold a hearing to pass upon the appeal. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the Company and the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had at the hearing and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the Company and the Advertising Code Administration. The President or said board, as the case may be, may admit such evidence as is deemed relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The President, or said board, as the case may be, shall decide the appeal as expeditiously as possible and shall notify the Company and the Director of the Advertising Code Administration in writing of the decision. Such decision shall be final.

A company appealing from a decision of the Advertising Code Administration under Section 14 of the Advertising Code shall have the right, by written notice to the Secretary of the Association, to appeal directly to the Board of Directors of the Association whose decision shall be final. The provisions relating to evidence, argument and written memoranda or briefs, set forth in these Regulations shall apply to such appeals.

7. Any Company to which these regulations are applicable, which publishes, or makes available for sale or lease, or which in any way uses advertising without prior approval as hereinabove provided, may be brought up on charges before the Board of Directors by the Director of the Advertising Code Administration, or by any of the following officers of the Association, viz.: the President, Vice-President, the Secretary or the Treasurer. The Company shall be entitled to receive a written statement of the charges and to a hearing before the Board of Directors. Within a reasonable time after the receipt of said statement of charges by the Company, the Board of Directors of the Association shall meet in a Special meeting to hear and pass upon such charges. Oral and written evidence may be introduced by the Company and by the Advertising Code Administration. Oral argument shall be had and written memoranda or briefs may be submitted by the Company and by the Advertising Code Administration. The Board of Directors may admit such evidence as it deems relevant, material and competent, and may determine the nature and length of the oral argument and of the written memoranda or briefs to be submitted. The Board of Directors, by a majority vote of those present, shall decide the matter as expeditiously as possible.

If the Board of Directors finds that the Company has published, or made available for sale or lease or in any way used advertising without prior approval as hereinabove set forth, the Board may take one or more of the following actions:

(a) Direct the Production Code Administration to void and revoke the Certificate of Approval granted by the Association for the picture so advertised and require the removal of the Association's seal from all prints of said picture, and the Production Code Administration shall thereupon do so;

(b) Require the Company, if a member of the Association, to pay to the Association as and for liquidated damages, not more than $100 for each publication, lease, sale or use of an unapproved item of advertising which has been published, made available for lease or sale or used, provided, however, that the total sum assessed for advertising relative to one motion picture may not exceed the sum of $25,000. The amount so assessed and collected shall be used by the Association for expenses incurred in the administration of the Advertising Code. It is recognized that any violation of the Advertising Code will disrupt the stability of the industry and cause serious damage to the Association and its members which cannot be definitively computed.

The decision of the Board of Directors shall be final.

8. Each Company shall assume responsibility for seeing that all its employees and agents comply with these regulations.

State and City Censor Boards

State Film Censor Boards

FLORIDA—In 1961 the Florida Legislature amended the existing motion picture censorship law to exempt motion pictures approved by the National Board of Review, reviewed by the Green Sheet, or licensed by the New York State Censor.

A similar statute exempting motion pictures approved by the National Board of Review or licensed by New York State has existed for many years but has been inactive.

The Board "shall approve such films, reels, including subtitles, spoken dialogue, songs, other words or sounds, folders, posters and advertising matter which are moral and proper; and shall disapprove such as are cruel, obscene, indecent, or immoral, or such as tend to debase or corrupt morals."

In addition to the quotation from the statute, this board has adopted the following rules:

A. Pictures should be clean and wholesome, and all features that tend to debase morals or influence the mind to improper conduct should be eliminated.

B. Ridicule of any religious sect or peculiar characteristics of any race of people will not be approved.

C. Evil suggestion in the dress of comedy characters will be eliminated.

D. Loose conduct between men and women will be eliminated, and whenever possible, barroom scenes and social drinking.

F. Crimes and criminal methods, such as give instruction in crime through suggestion, will be eliminated or abbreviated.

G. Prolonged and passionate love scenes, when suggestive of immorality will be eliminated.

Memphis, Dresden, Savannah, Knoxville, Ripley, Lexington and Maryville have Sunday shows. 1939, passed state law providing majority in any municipality shall decide for Sunday movies (Previous law, 4/5 majority). February, 1939 Nashville voted for Sunday shows. Murfreesboro theatres closed by poll tax vote in 1940. Etowah and Clarksville approved Sunday films in 1942. Jackson, which had shown movies on Sunday afternoons, forced to discontinue by referendum vote in 1943. Sunday films banned by City Council in Martin, 1943. Lebanon, Dyersburg, LaFollette and Whiteville voted for Sunday shows. City Council of Knoxville passed Sunday opening measure on first reading March, 1946, but no further action taken. Springfield: Sunday films legalized by City Council between 1 and 5:30 p.m. and after 8:30 p.m., March 19, 1957.

TEXAS—Governor signed bill legalizing Sunday pictures, which law became effective August 12th, 1931, subject to local option. Prior to passage of law, majority of principal towns were open. Most towns now have Sunday shows.

UTAH—No law preventing showing of pictures on Sundays. Former state statute made it illegal to operate a theatre on Sunday, but this statute was repealed in 1925. Local option bill was subsequently introduced but failed to pass.

VERMONT—Sunday movies after 6 p. m., law passed 1939. 1941 legislature eliminated necessity for voting every year on Sunday amusements, except on petition of 5% of voters.

VIRGINIA—Motion pictures are exhibited on Sunday in Richmond, Norfolk, and various other Virginia cities, usually after juries and test cases have failed to convict the exhibitor. In Williams versus Commonwealth 179 Va. 741, decided in 1942, the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia approved the operation of Sunday movies where the proceeds were devoted to charity, and three members of the Court, in a concurring opinion, held that the defendant was engaged in a "work of necessity," within the meaning of the Virginia Sunday Observance Law. The effect of this concurring opinion has been far-reaching in discouraging prosecutions for the exhibition of motion pictures on Sunday.

WASHINGTON—Sunday opening not legalized except in Colfax where old statute providing Sunday closing was attempted to be enforced, but was defeated. Theatres throughout State operate without interference. Closed in Pullman Sunday evenings as result of friendly arrangement with people of Normal School of Pullman.

WEST VIRGINIA—Not legalized, but all principal cities show pictures on Sunday which include Charleston, Bluefield, Huntington, Williamson (theatres in last city open after closing of church in morning and close prior to evening service). Forbidden by local ordinance in Lewisburg, Milton, and Ronceverte.

WISCONSIN—Blue laws repealed in 1933.

WYOMING—No state law concerning motion pictures.

CHAIRMAN, MOTION PICTURE DEPT., I.F.C.A.

Mrs. James F. Looram, L.H.D.

In October, 1933, during the nineteenth meeting of the National Conference of Catholic Charities held in New York, His Excellency the Most Rev. Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Apostolic Delegate to the United States, issued a challenge to the Catholics of this country to take action in the matter of "immoral" motion pictures. At the annual meeting of the Bishops in Washington, November, 1933, the Bishops' Committee on Motion Pictures was formed. (Now called the Episcopal Committee for Motion Pictures, Radio and Television)

Present members of the Bishops' Committee are: Most Rev. William A. Scully, Bishop of Albany, chairman; Most Rev. Hubert M. Newell, Bishop of Cheyenne; Most Rev. John King Mussio, Bishop of Steubenville; Most Rev. James A. McNulty, Bishop of Paterson; Most Rev. Alden J. Bell, Auxiliary Bishop of Los Angeles.

The Legion of Decency states, "It seeks to obtain and maintain fundamental moral standards on the screen. It desires a screen which will not endanger the moral welfare of children and citizens and, therefore, not jeopardize the moral welfare of our country. It issues, regularly, classifications of films in terms of Christian morality. It presents these moral ratings to the public in order that the public may be informed of the moral character of films currently exhibited, and, thereby, be enabled to act wisely and choose for themselves, and for those entrusted to their care, screen entertainment which will not threaten moral and spiritual welfare."

The Motion Picture Department of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae acts as the official review group for the National Legion of Decency.

The Legion issues bi-weekly a list of the moral classifications of current feature pictures. This list is distributed to the Catholic press throughout the United States through the National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service. Information on moral evaluation of films is given to the secular press as occasion requires. The Legion's list of film ratings may be obtained by subscription, $2.50 a year, third class mail, $3.50 a year first class mail, $5.50 air mail.

In addition the Legion has available a compilation of all pictures reviewed and classified from February, 1936, to November, 1955, price $4.00, and a yearly booklet, 25¢.

The Legion's revised classifying system (December 5, 1957) is as follows: A1, Morally Unobjectionable for General Patronage; A2, Morally Unobjectionable for Adults and Adolescents; A3, Morally Unobjectionable for Adults; B, Morally Objectionable in Part for All, and, C, Condemned. A "Separate Classification" is given to certain films.

BRITISH YEAR IN REVIEW

by PETER BURNUP

THE compulsive reappraisal in motion picture's affairs reported in this place a year ago continues in unabated fashion. Total admissions of filmgoers to cinemas in Britain in 1962 numbered 415 million; a reduction of 12 per cent on the figure of 472 million for 1961. The meticulous statisticians at the Board of Trade estimate provisionally that the average weekly attendances during May 1963 numbered 7.1 million; an estimate which, allowing for customary seasonal variations, would indicate for the whole year 1963 a total of 380 to 390 millions.

Gross takings at the box office in 1962 are put at £58.9 million, a fall of 5 per cent only from the 1961 figure of £62.2 million; an apparent anomaly arising in the circumstance that the average price of admission in 1962 was 34.1 pence compared with 31.7 pence in 1961. (1963 started off in grim fashion but that was due entirely to the severe and bleak weather which afflicted Britain in that month.)

The downward trend in the number of admissions continues inevitably to be reflected in the volume of theatre closures. At the beginning of 1962, 2,715 theatres were in operation with varying degrees of success. By the close of that year 2,415 were still open. (The declivitous tendency would appear to have lost some of its initial impetus. 1962's closure of 300 compares with 330 in 1961 and nearly 400 in 1960.)

Inevitably and lamentably the great majority of the houses compelled to close down were small and in many cases inadequately equipped; with moreover no financial resources to remedy that defect. All that despite, the greatest single factor in the elimination of a host of smaller exhibitors was the operation of the so-called Third Release Channel. The First and Second Channels, dominated respectively by the two giant combines, the Rank Organisation and Associated British Picture Corporation, inevitably attract to themselves the cream of all available product. It is fact that both Rank and ABPC are making the most earnest endeavours to readjust the existing pattern. But the revisionists find themselves faced with two problems: (a) the world-wide shortage of product with suitable appeal, (b) the current vogue not only among certain Hollywood producers but European filmmakers also to concentrate on the making of so-called blockbusters which can only recoup their immense production costs with extended runs and at enhanced admission prices in centres of immense population.

The first example in the latter category was "South Pacific" which ran at the Dominion Theatre in London for some five years. Previously, exhibitors complained bitterly that they were denied the opportunity of showing the film to their patrons until it was some years old. But "South Pacific" set a new pattern and undoubtedly provoked a spate of highly necessary re-thinking among the Industry generally.

That welcome evidence of re-thinking is assuredly more than ever necessary in regard to product shortage. Over the last five years Hollywood's contribution to the world market has decreased notoriously in near-cataclysmic fashion. Moreover, as MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S ANNUAL POLL has consistently shown over the same period, British audiences have evinced an invariable predilection for this country's output. That phenomenon cannot have arisen in a stubborn sort of Chavinism. For the box-office has its own special logic. To be borne in mind also is the circumstance that in recent years British producers have successfully fought their way into overseas markets and that today up to 60 per cent of their income arises in those newly-won markets.

All the foregoing despite, the most momentous factor in Britain's motion-picture Industry's continued earning capacity and indeed its survival was undoubtedly the collapse in early 1963 of the endeavours to compel this country to join the European Common Market.

The country's Conservative Government had overtly staked its electoral future—notoriously under considerable pressure from President John F. Kennedy's Administration —on such a development. Leaders of the Industry itself were divided on the potentialities of the project. Mr. John Davis made a forthright declaration in favour of "the development of a European as opposed to a purely national attitude in the country's motion picture affairs". Not for the first time nevertheless the whole design of the fabric was shattered in the tempest of discussion which overtook the various Councils on the Continent. As an outcome thereof Britain was denied entry into the Common Market to the vast relief of realists who were fully cognisant of the circumstance that membership of the Common Market would entail the abandonment of the painfully devised tripartite production bulwarks; namely, (a) the Quota system, (b) The British Film Fund Agency (the so-called Eady Fund), (c) The National Film Finance Corporation.

Admittedly, there was an air of hasty improvisation in the establishment of each of those instruments. But in the sum they assuredly put British production at least in its present flourishing condition. Shrewd producing organisations are relieved that the Government has not been allowed to sacrifice the present substance of assured success for the mythical ephemera of an entry into the turbulent European conclave and with no benefit of Quota and the like. Ironically—doubtless to the consternation of the European "Six"—the overseas sales of Britain's pictures continue to increase in spectacular fashion. Their total for the years 1962-63 are confidently expected to reach an all-time high. Nevertheless, the Conservative Government will manifestly be called upon in the near future to increase its subsidy to the National Film Finance Corporation which makes "Eady Fund" subsidies to aspirant producers.

The Corporation's latest annual report shows that after two successful years it made a loss of £219,867 in 1962. In spite of this "regretable setback" N.F.F.C. has asked the Board of Trade to increase its funds for making production loans. If the Board refuses, the Corporation says it will have no choice but to cut its lending severely during the current year and thus hamper the chances of the growth of British film production for world markets.

Last year's loss of £219,867 compared with profits of £49,564 and £18,441 for the two previous years. It brought the accumulated deficiency to £4,282,855 at March 31, 1963. (That monstrous deficiency arose primarily and mainly in the incredible and unchecked production extravagances of the late Sir Alexander Korda; certainly not in wild-cat production prodigality in later years.)

Says the Corporation's Report: "The main factors were that shares of profits received during the year from successful films decreased from £323,952 for the previous year to £116,384; and the provision made for losses on loans is still high at £227,807. The Corporation's remaining funds are almost wholly deployed and its uncommitted resources at March 31 amounted to only £90,365, compared with £337,320 at March 31, 1962." The Government is authoritatively understood to have decided to sanction the necessary additional advances before the end of 1963.

Assuredly, there's a happy proliferation in Britain's screen offerings from the now almost traditional "Doctor" and "Carry On" series, through exhibits as varied as "I'm All Right, Jack!", "Room at the Top", "The Young Ones", "Summer Holiday" and down (or possibly up) to the so-called New Wave productions. Conservative and conventionally minded patrons of the cinema were offended when films with modern themes and with the appeal to youth began coming to the screen. But a new audience, too, was coming to the cinema. It was a young, keen, selective, critical audience; moreover, an expanding audience which welcomed films like "Room at the Top", "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning", "A Kind of Loving". Directors of the calibre of Karl Reisz, Jack Clayton, Tony Richardson, John Schlesinger, have lent new lustre to the screen; new profit to imaginative exhibitors.

"Why?", asks Arthur Watkins, formerly president of the British Film Producers' Association. "Because they have been films with ideas, films which have not been afraid to tackle current social problems and credit modern audiences with intelligence. The lighter "entertainment" films must similarly break new ground, get away from the threadbare "boy meets girl" formulae and offer the public imaginative and freshly conceived entertainment".

Forward looking authorities on this side of the Atlantic likewise demand a drastic realignment in the whole of the Industry's set-up here. John Terry, managing director of the National Film Finance Corporation, lately startled exhibitors assembled for their Annual Convention by advocating streamlining of distributing organisations; a single booking agency for independent exhibitors; control of production costs; a new outlook towards television; the setting-up of a Film Productivity Council.

As this country's acknowledged authority on production costs, the N.F.F.C. chief characterised a cash payment exceeding £10,000 per picture to any performer whether actor, producer or director as "nonsensical". There are probably only a dozen stars in the world, said Terry, capable of drawing people into the cinema irrespective of the merits of the film. Let the stars take a reasonable cash fee plus a share of profits, he added.

In the present mood for realistic streamlining in all sections of the Industry, Mr. Terry's demand for a curb on payments to stars, no matter how notable, is very welcome; never mind the cries of protest and dismay from artists' agents. After all, the N.F.F.C. has the ultimate financial say-so in up to 60 per cent of the pictures made in Britain.

BELGIUM

Number of theatres in operation: There are approximately 1,250 motion picture theatres.

Censorship: There is no censorship in Belgium, but a Government appointed committee determines which films are suitable to children under the age of sixteen. Theatres must conspicuously display "Children Admitted" sign.

Customs and duties: Import duties for films: Positive films, Fr 1,66 per meter; Negative film Fr 0,35 per meter; Cost of sub-titling varies between Fr 10.000 and 15.000 per film.

Taxes: Taxes on motion picture admissions vary between 18% and 25% on gross takings (including copyright).

Financial exchange regulations: The proceeds of films are allowed to be exported freely, with 65% including subtitling cost in charge of producer.

Industry legislation: There is no definite legislation on the motion picture industry in Belgium, which works independently from Government instances. In very extraordinary cases, such as those in which the whole national economy is concerned and of which resulted the agreement about import and export of the dollar zone products, the Belgian Government will act as an advisor in order to serve as well as possible the interest of everybody concerned, including those of the motion picture people.

Government departments: As far as necessary, the Ministry of Economical Affairs and the Ministry of Finance are concerned with films.

Industry organizations: The Belgium film trade consists of three organizations, two of which are constituted by studios, distributors and laboratories. They are: "Chambre Syndicale Belge du Cinéma" and the "Union Professionnelle des Distributeurs de Films de Belgique." The third organization groups most of the exhibitors and is called the "Association des Directeurs de Théâtres Cinématographiques de Belgique." As a rule the films are distributed on a percentage basis. This amounts to 30% to 45% for the so-called exceptional films.

Chambre Sydicale Belge de la Cinematographie: Avenue de l'Astronomie 22, Brussels, President: R. De Hollander, Vice-President: R. Poschelle; Administrators: Georges Fannoy; Secretary-General: A. Debalu.

Association des Directeurs de Theatres Cinematographiques de Belgique (Exhibitors) Rue Royale 241, Brussels. President: Raoul Anneez.

CANADA

Number of theatres in operation: 1,591 (30 June 1963). Of this number, 1,349 are standard and 242 drive-in. The number of closings has levelled off. Thirteen houses went dark in the first six months of this year. Two were closed by fire, four previously closed, reopened, and one new house opened since the first of the year. Last year at this time, 16 standard and one drive-in went out of business and two were burned out.

Total seating capacity of the 13 houses closed this year amounted to 5,477 and in the two burned 775, for an overall total of 6,252. Total seating capacity in Canada is estimated at 719,490.

The annual report of the Ontario Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1963, showed that 16 theatres closed in the province and four new theatres, three of them drive-ins opened, making the total of licensed 35mm. situations in Ontario, 422.

The number of French language theatres in the Province of Quebec continues on the upswing. The move began in 1943 when French-dubbed Hollywood productions were first introduced. Today most of the Province of Quebec gross is earned by French-dubbed films. At one time French-dubbed films used to take the leavings after the English films had played; the reverse is now true. Latest figures show that 226 or 62 per cent of Quebec's total of 364 35mm. situations played French-language pictures exclusively and 48 or 13 per cent, both English and French films.

Number of features released in 1962: 512, based on the number of features submitted to the Ontario Board of Censors for the year ending 31 March 1963 by 18 licensed film exchanges. The previous year 478 were submitted.

Breakdown of origin of the films by countries, with bracketed figures the previous year's total: USA, 202 (197); Great Britain 47, (67); Canada 1 (0); Italy 136 (87); Greece 33 (45); Germany 52 (32); France 17 (10); Japan 5 (10). The remaining number is unimportant.

Of the American films, 144 were deemed suitable for family audiences, 50 were classified Adult and 8 were placed in the Restricted category. Of the British films submitted, 29 were suitable for family audiences, 13 were classified as Adult, and only 5 were restricted. The only Canadian film was placed in the Restricted category. Of the remaining films, 213 were passed for family audiences, 30 were classified Adult and 19 were Restricted. The Board reviewed 380 short subjects.

It should be noted that there was a 50 per cent increase in the number of German and Italian pictures brought into the province last year.

The Board of Cinema Censors of the Province of Quebec accepted 680 films of the 788 films reviewed in 1962. Of this number 48 were released for showing to cine clubs and film societies only, 12 were cut, five were rejected and 33 still await decision.

Censorship: Each province with the exception of Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island has its own censorship board. Pictures shown on Prince Edward Island must be approved by the New Brunswick Board of Censors. In Newfoundland, there is an act regarding motion pictures, but no regulations have been laid down.

Television, which is under the authority of the Federal Government, escapes censorship since censorship is the authority of the provinces. The Province of Quebec has threatened to impose censorship on TV, but has not yet done so.

Censorship is done by the various provinces on a fee basis, with so much per reel, as well as a license fee imposed on the distributor for the privilege of having his films censored. As yet none of the distributors has challenged the censor boards in the courts.

In Ontario, the censor has established a system of classification of films. Under the act, the minimum age under which children may attend movies unaccompanied is 14. The term "theatre" applies only to those showing 33 mm. films. Films classified as "Adult Entertainment" must be so advertised in the newspapers and identified outside the theatre.

Under the category "Restricted" certain films are allowed exhibition for patrons over 18, each engagement requires approval (which is automatic) of the board.

British Columbia has introduced a system similar to that of Ontario in the classification of the films.

Customs, duties and taxes: Imported 35 mm. motion picture film, distributed for profit, comes in at a minimum value of eight cents per foot for duty purposes, but if invoice value is higher, then greater value is used. Duty is one and a half cents per linear foot and this is added to appraised value on which sales tax of 11 per cent is also payable. There is no differential between black and white and color. Educational or religious films are free of duty and sales tax, provided, a certificate from Office of Educational Exchange, Washington, is submitted to and approved by the Deputy Minister of Customs.

Ottawa. Film from Great Britain subject to same imposts as that from U.S., except if duty exceeds 15 per cent of the value figured at one and a half cents a foot, then there is discount of 10 per cent in the amount payable on British Preferential tariff. Advertising comes in at 25 per cent on the invoice value, plus 11 per cent sales tax on the total.

The Government in a budget placed before Parliament called for an 11 per cent sales tax on all motion picture negatives entering Canada, except for educational use. The tax is being paid under protest. The 11 per cent is based on an 8 cent per foot or on duty-paid valuation, whichever is higher.

The budget also reduces to 10 per cent from 15 per cent withholding tax on payments by companies with at least 25 per cent Canadian ownership. But in 1965, this will be increased to 20 per cent on dividend payments by companies with less than 25 per cent Canadian ownership. If 25 per cent Canadian ownership is achieved before January 1, 1967, withholding tax paid in excess of 10 per cent is refundable.

The Canadian dollar in terms of the United States dollar has been pegged at 92.5 cents.

Admission Taxes: Taxes are collected in eight of the 10 provinces. Saskatchewan leaves it to local option, Newfoundland collects five cents per person for cancer control.

Taxes are as follows: Alberta, B.C., nil; Manitoba—60 cents and less tax free, admission prices from 61 to 64 cents carry a one-cent tax, admission prices of 65 to 67 cents carry a two-cent tax, 68 to 70 cents pay three-cent tax and 70 cents to $1, five per cent. tax, and $1 and up, 10 per cent.; Newfoundland—five cents for every person buying admission ticket, with municipalities granted local option; New Brunswick—to 30 cents no tax, graduated to $1.00 and above $1.00, 11 per cent.; Nova Scotia—to 30 cents exempt, graduated scale to $1.00 where tax is 10 cents, additional five-cent impost for each additional 50 cents or fractions thereof; Ontario—no tax up to and including 75 cents in towns under 10,000, but doesn't include drive-in theatres, no tax on admission up to and including 57 cents, with tax between 56 cents and 92 cents graduated, with admissions over $1.00, a straight 10 per cent. Prince Edward Island—to 30 cents exempt, above graduated to $1.00, then five cents for every 50 cents or fractions thereof; Quebec—two taxes—principal tax of 10 per cent., plus a 25 per cent. surtax on admissions on $1.00 and over; Saskatchewan—no provincial but local option to municipalities.

Theatre and exchange licenses: Provincial and municipal governments require annual licenses from theatres and film exchanges, the fees for theatres ranging up to $200. Theatres and distributing offices where films are stored come under strict building and inspection codes.

CEYLON

Number of Theatres: 215

Number of Feature Films Produced: 6

Number of Features Imported: 300

The government has maintained a board of censors since 1956.

Average admission tax is 15%. Customs duty on feature imports is 15¢ a foot preferential and 15¢ general with a further 1% of the value of the import levied on a general basis. Censorship bans too much violence or sex and any film refering disparagingly to political ideologies of any countries with whom Ceylon has diplomatic relations.

CHILE

Number of theatres in operation: 460. There are 150 16 mm theatres in operation in small towns. There are, however, about 300 16 mm outfits which are used in schools, churches, etc.

Censorship: Approval of films for the entire Chilean territory must be obtained from a committee of seven members. The Censorship Board is dependent of the Ministry of Education. It is formed by: The Director General of National Libraries and Public Museums, who presides; 2 teachers; 1 psychiatrist; 1 representative of the Municipality; 2 persons representatives of the President of Chile. CHINA (Taiwan)

Number of Theatres: 427

Number of Features Produced: 159

Number of Imported Features: 311

Movie attendance in 1962: 12,309,000

Distributors of imported films are dismayed over a 10% increase in admission taxes which goes to subsidize local productions. A Special Defense Tax made it necessary to increase admission charges by about 7.5% which caused a dropoff in patrons. Customs duties is 50% on cost per meter at 20¢ for first print, 10¢ for second and 2¢ for third print. Thus sample tax would be 50% duty, 20% Defense Tax and 20% Special Defense tax for 35mm prints with duty doubled for 70mm imports. Information of recent changes in censorship, import rules, etc. can be obtained from Embassy of the Republic of China, Washington, D.C. Principal movie producer is the government-controlled Central Motion Picture Corporation.

CHINA (Communist)

Number of Chinese features released in 1962: 80.

Attendance in 1962: 6,000,000

Number of theatres and projection teams: 14,500.

Red China now boasts that it has 60 film studios, including 38 which produce feature films of which the principal ones are the Sian Studio, Chukiang Studio in Canton, August First Studio in Peking, the Changchun Studio, and the Haiyen, Tienma and Kiangnan Studios in Shanghai. In addition to the feature pictures, production included full length documentaries, newsreels and short documentaries, scientific and educational shorts, and animated cartoons. A number of films are also imported from Communist countries and dubbed in Chinese. No American films are imported and American laws do not permit business with Communist China. Stereoscopic films were produced in China though there are only four theatres—in Peking, Shanghai and Tientsin—equipped to show these films.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Number of theatres in operation (35 and 16 mm): approximately 3,500.

Number of features produced in 1961: 32

In addition to the feature films made some 500 short subjects were produced. Including the 3,500 regular 35 mm and 16 mm projectors operating, some 20,000 "projecting installations" are in use, according to publicity releases. Statistics show that every citizen goes to the cinema 17 times a year, perhaps the heaviest attendance in the world.

DENMARK

Number of theatres in operation: 500. (Copenhagen, 58. Provinces, 403. Mobile cinemas, 27. Faroe Islands, 7.)

Censorship: Approval of all films must be obtained from State's Censorship Board appointed by Ministry of Justice. Three classifications: banned (white seal), general showing (red seal), adults only (yellow seal). All posters and stills used for advertising must be approved by same board.

Customs and other duties: A customs duty of d.kr. 25.00 per kilogram is paid. Minor fees for censorship of films and advertising.

Admission taxes: 7/17, or 41% of gross price. Until March 31st 1960 1/3 of entertainment tax was repaid to exhibitors. From April 1st, 1960 1/3 of tax is repaid to exhibitors. It is possible, according to negotiations between trade organizations and the Government, that entertainment tax will be abolished next year. As it is now, the law provides that a certain percentage of entertainment tax receipts from the exhibition of Danish films be remitted to producers, namely, 25% for black and white films and 40% for color films.

Financial exchange regulations: Early 1954 the allocation system was abolished. All regulations for import of films have been cancelled and film trade is thus back to pre-war conditions.

Industry legislation: A distributor must be a Danish citizen or a Danish company headed by a Danish citizen. No distributor may be an exhibitor unless he is a Danish producer, in which case he may be given an exhibitor's license. No exhibitor may operate or control more than one house, consequently there are no circuits. Exhibition licenses are given by the Ministry of Justice.

ECUADOR

Number of theatres in operation: Approximately 260 35 mm houses and 70 16 mm houses.

Censorship: Censorship in the country is divided by provinces. Each province has its own Censorship Board formed by local representatives. In Guayaquil Censorship Board must approve all films before release. Films fall into four classes: "A" excellent, for general audience. "B" rejected for children. "C" pictures to be exhibited separately for women and men; and "D" banned. The companies must ask for censorship within three days in advance. Also pictures released more than six months need to be reviewed. In Quito the Censorship Board is controlled by the Municipality and also must approve all films before release but the same pictures released in Guayaquil are banned in Quito, especially mexican pictures.

Customs, Duties and Other Fees: According with the Law, effective January 1st, 1954, all the pictures and advertising to be imported are located in List "2" and will pay 20 gold sucres per gross kilo. All the imported films will have its import license given by the Control de Cambios of the Central Bank paying the 50% in advance of taxes then when the picture comes, the companies have to pay the other 50% of fees. This law affects the advertising films that are distributed free of charge to the theatres. It is expected this law will be reformed but the fees will be raised at 30 gold sucres per gross kilo but at the present time it has not been put into effect.

Admission Taxes: The taxes affecting motion picture business have been raised as follows: 30 centavos for national defense, Decree No. 3, August 13, 1947; 20 centavos for public assistance, Decree No. 1008, January 8, 1944; 10 centavos for national health, Decree No. 932, October 6, 1943; 20 centavos for school construction, Decree No. 686, December 12, 1950; 10 centavos for Ex-President Garcia Moreno monument, Decree No. 660 November 8, 1954; 10 centavos for Ex-President Eloy Alfaro monument, Decree No. 693, December 17, 1954; 10% for reconstruction of devastated zones by the August 5, 1949 earthquake, Decree No. 319, September 21, 1949; 10% Municipal tax, Decree No. 152, March 4, 1949; 10% Government tax, Decree No 227, March 5, 1945. All these taxes for one admission ticket represents more than 50% of the entire value.

Financial Exchange Regulations: June 1947, decree permits all film companies operating in the country to transfer funds to United States or other countries by purchasing dollars through the "free market" instead of the Central Bank of the Ecuador. This means, in effect, a decrease in film income because the "free market" sells dollars at 18.00 whereas the official rate is 15.15 including taxes, but there is no limit in the transferences.

Industry Legislation: November 1948, decree by which all film companies operating in Ecuador must pay seven per cent of their profits to their employees, according to the annual declaration to the Government for payment of taxes. Now, all the companies have agreed to pay that percentage.

Government Departments: Comisaria de Espectaculos which controls all film business and where all the managers must be registered: chief Enrique Morales Alfaro. Departamento de Cambios (Exchange Department); chief in Guayaquil Nicolas Castro Barreiro. Direccion General de Aduanas (Customs House Direction) chief: General Ricardo Astudillo.

FINLAND

Number of theatres in operation: 600 cinemas with about 200,000 seats. Besides these exist also 12 hospital cinemas and 26 military regiment cinemas.

Censorship: All films for official showing in Finland are subject to the Government Censorship Board (Valtion Elokuvatarkastamo), which bureau classifies each film in a): four categories: (adults only, general public over 12 years old, general showing and totally banned); b): decides into which class of entertainment taxes the film belongs.

Because of an existing agreement with the Soviet, the Finnish censorship have been forced to ban several films dealing with Russians or with anti-communistic tendencies, while on the other hand Russian films with typical anti-American tendencies are allowed for showing. It is understood that if Finnish censors didn't use this policy, the immediate result would be Russian protests stating that Finland did not follow its stipulations in the peace and other existing agreements.

Customs and other duties: A fee of 34 Marks on each kilogram must be paid for all imported films.

Admission taxes: Finnish films: All films of educational or cultural worth are free from taxes. Other films pay 15%, 20% or 25% of admission prices, with the highest rate used for preferable show films.

Imported films: These also can be free from entertainment taxes after the same stipulations as for Finnish films. Other films pay 35%, 40% or 45% of admission prices in taxes.

Financial exchange regulations: There are no quotas limiting the number of films which can be brought into Finland, but restrictions on the transfer of foreign exchange may tend to reduce the distribution of imported product. Import licenses are required and are granted to distributors who state in each license application that they will not require foreign exchange before the Bank of Finland is ready to grant it.

Industry legislation: Market is free for competition, and no stipulations giving domestic productions certain conditions before imported features exists. Twenty-three first-run houses in Helsinki played 413 films during 1956, and after their run at these houses the films go to other cinemas (second-runs).

FRANCE

Number of theatres in operation: 5,742, a drop of 60 in year, comprising 2,745,053, averaging 479 seats per theatre.

In 1962 43 licenses were delivered to French films and 37 to co-productions French majority, 45 licenses were delivered to co-productions, majority foreign. 234 foreign films were dubbed and received licenses and 201 foreign films, original version were also given licenses showing an important increase in the number of foreign films. This was due largely to shortage of French product as only 43 purely French films went into production and 37 co-productions French majority making a total of 80 against 138 the previous year. For the first four months of this year 29 purely French films started production, 10 of which are large screen.

Attendances in 1962 fell sharply to 309 millions, a fall of about 5.22%. Receipts increased by 7.05% because of dearer seats, which went up by an average of 12.94%.

On the other hand producers leaned over backwards to reduce production costs, average cost falling from 1,370,000 francs in 1961 to 960,000 in 1962. Co-productions on the other hand cost around 3% more.

The most important change over the past twelve months was the decision to fill the aid fund by means of an additional 14% tax imposed only on domestic reecipts and not including exports.

This method of taxation for aid was first introduced by Italy. It could not be imposed in France without permission of the Common Market Commission. This was granted.

The French Government only agreed to introduce this after the cinemas had threatened to strike.

Two other highly important developments include court action (still pending) by the Exhibitors Federation against State TV accused of unfair competition. Also for the first time a French actor agreed to accept a contract giving him sales rights over a film for certain countries, instead of fees. Alain Delon accepted sales rights for Melodie en Sous Sol for Russia, Japan, and Brazil. From the sale to Japan he earned more than if he had been paid the usual fees.

Finally France earned over 96 million francs from exports against 79 million in 1961.

Industry organizations: The industry is divided into the following professional organizations: Syndicat Francais des Producteurs de films de long metrage (President F. Cosne); Syndicat Francais des Producteurs de Films Educatifs Documentaires et de Court Metrage (President M. Pierre Remont); Chambre Syndicale de la Presse Filmee (President M. Jean Jay). GERMANY

Number of theatres in operation: 6,331 in the Federal Republic and West Berlin on December 31, 1962, according to SPIO (Spitzenorganisation der Filmwirtschaft, see: Principal industry organizations). This compares to 1,150 theatres in 1945. 1667 theatres are located in 54 cities of more than 100,000 inhabitants, including 207 in West Berlin. With a total of 2,619,345 seats, the average seating capacity was 414, or one theatre seat to every 22 inhabitants. (In 1937, the relation was one seat for 37 people in Germany). Average gross revenue in 1961 was 281 marks (70 dollars) per seat.

Number of imported features in 1962: 394 in 1962. This does not include full length documentaries and revivals.

Distribution: There are 100 German and foreign distributors active in the Federal Republic and West Berlin, but only 32 of them handle more than three features a year on a national basis. Seven of these offer mainly German films, eight American ones, the rest a mixed program.

Feature production in 1962: 63 German features (including 18 co- or tri-production with foreign films (Italy 6, France 2, Austria 1, Yugoslavia 1, USA 1, France/Italy 3 and Spain/Italy 3) were produced in 1962 as against 82 in 1962, 115 in 1958, 128 in 1955. About 200 cultural and documentaries were produced in 1962, 14 of these over 1.000 meters.

Principal studios and their annual feature production capacity (in parentheses) follow: Bavaria-Filmkunst AG, Munich-Geiselgasteig (30-35). CCC-Film, Verlaengerte Daum Str. 16, Berlin-Spandau (30). Universum Film AG, Oberland Str. 26-35, Berlin-Tempelhof (18-24). ARCA-Atelier-GmbH Havelchausse 1. Berlin-Charlottenburg 9 (12). Atelierbetriebe Bendestorf GmbH, Johnsallee 49, Hamburg 13 (6-8). Unter den Eichen, Wiesbaden (3). Arri-Filmatelier, Tuerken Str. 89, Munich 13 (2). Carlton-Filmatelier, Tulbeck Str. 27, Munich 12 (2). Studio Hamburg, Atelierverwertriebsgesellschaft m.b.H., Tonndorfer Haupstr (90), Hamburg-Wandsbek (16) Taunus-Film, Unter den Eichen, Wiesbaden (3) Riva-Film und lichttechnische Vertriebs—G.m.b.H., Rivastra Be, Unterföhring bei München (25).

Censorship: Since July 15, 1949, Allied control has been replaced by a German Production Code and a system of voluntary censorship patterned after the American example. This "Freiwillige Selbstkontrolle der deutschen Filmwirtschaft" (German Council of Voluntary Censorship), with headquarters at Schloss St. 2 Wiesbaden-Biebrich, has jurisdiction in Western Germany and West Berlin. Decisions of the Review Committee may be appealed to the Central Committee, thence to the Lawyers' Committee, whose verdict is final. One half of the members are appointed by motion picture industry, the other half by the ministries of education. The Roman Catholic and the Protestant churches, the Jewish denomination, and the public Youth Offices are represented on all committees except the last, which is formed by public jurists or professors of law.

Admission taxes: These vary by state and community, ranging from 10 to 25 per cent and averaging 10.5 per cent. Amusement tax revenues from theatres in Western Germany and West Berlin totaled 55.4 million German marks (14 million Dollars) in 1962. Persistent protests (the tax used to average only 7.6 per cent before the war) have brought some reductions conceded to pictures of cultural or educational value, but sales and amusement taxes are still taking from German motion picture industry four times the amount of the total revenue of one year's production.

Attendance: The number of attendances in Western Germany (including the Saar) and West Berlin receded by 14.5 per cent (1960—605 million to 507 million in 1961. As compared to the past year the 1960 attendance figure lies approximately between that of 1950 and 1951 and exceeds that of 1950 by 6 per cent. Average attendance in 1961 was 9.2 performances per each inhabitant.

Financial exchange regulations: The import of foreign pictures into Germany is almost entirely liberalized. Permits still required from the Bundesamt fuer gewerbliche Wirtschaft in Frankfurt an Main for reasons of foreign exchange are only a formality. Mutual import contingents have been agreed with England, France, Italy, Austria, Spain and Argentina, but this is merely because motion picture production in these countries is state subsidized whereas in Germany it is not. There are also agreements with several other countries regulating co-productions and other matters.

In May, 1951, the German Federal government agreed to hold down to 27 per cent any screen quota it may set up for German films, leaving American companies free to compete for the other 73 per cent in German theatres. This arrangement may be repealed on a yearly basis beginning September 30, 1957. However, no quota has ever been introduced. MPAA in an informal arrangement with German industry has agreed to hold down imports to 200 dubbed features per year but this figure has not been an actual limit. There are no restrictions for the import of features in the original version or other types of pictures. The transfer of revenue from foreign pictures in Germany is now completely free to all countries, including the Dollar area.

German motion picture export revenues went up from 1.3 million dollars in 1952 to 7 millions in 1961. This however compares to about 28 million dollars gross revenue earned by foreign pictures distributed in Germany in 1961.

Customs and duties: Negative film exposed or developed and lavender prints are free of duty, on all other prints there is a nominal charge of 18 marks (4.30 dollars) for every 100 meters. Also, there is a six per cent sales tax charge. On raw film material there is a 13 per cent import duty. In 1957, 3.4 million dollars worth of raw film were imported (mainly from the U.S. and Belgium), while raw film exports amounted to 4 million dollars.

Industry legislation: Competition within all branches of the motion picture industry is completely free. No licenses are required.

The use of safety film was made obligatory by federal legislation in 1957, with a period ending September 30, 1958 allowed for conversion. A series of outdated police regulations will thereby become obsolete.

GREECE

Number of theatres in operation: 1,350 out of which 800 are open air.

Censorship: A Government Censorship Board declares whether each picture is "suitable" or "unsuitable" for youths under 14 years old. Unsuitable pictures are those depicting bold love scenes, violence, lawlessness, horror and methods of crime. These regulations are strictly observed lately and very few pictures are getting now the "suitable" label. Also no guns or love scenes is allowed to be displayed outside the theatres.

Customs and other duties: The calculation of duty is so complicated that it is almost impossible to determine its exact percentage to the print cost. It is approximately 75 per cent on the print cost and royalty. In cases that a royalty is not included in the respective invoice an approximate royalty of $1,000 is taken as a base for the calculation of the duty.

Admission taxes: The admission taxes are very high and levied on a scale basis. For first run theatres it reaches the 40 per cent while on the subsequent runs is around the 35 per cent. A special tax, however, in favour of the Queen's Fund, increases the admission tax which finally reaches 48 per cent for the first runs. No admission tax is levied to theatres operating in small towns with a population of 4,000 and less.

Number of pictures imported: About seven hundred fifty foreign pictures have been imported during 1962 in Greece out of which 450 have been released during the 1962-1963 winter season. Some of the rest will be released during the summer months in open air houses. The number of foreign releases can be broken down as follows: American 230, French 63, Italian 47 (not including the pictures produced in Italy by American companies) German 22, Russian 15, and a small number from other countries.

Local Production: Local production in 1962 was up again to one hundred pictures. During the 1962-1963 winter season 85 pictures have been released in Athens first runs. A small Government support is granted to local producers and more facilities to foreign ones because foreign production is sought.

Financial exchange regulations: A foreign exchange permit and the approval of the Currency Committee of the Bank of Greece is necessary. The overall dollar remittance is regulated every year by the Department of National Economy, which for the last five years increased the allocation for all the American products $600,000 per year.

Industry legislation: There are laws insuring the undisturbed operation of the electric machinery at every theatre. No theatre is allowed to start operating at the beginning of any season without getting a permit from the Operation License Committee after a thorough inspection. This committee is consisted of high officers of the Police, Fire, Hygienic, Tourist, and Engineering Departments.

Number of features produced: 190

Number of Pictures Imported: 280

Attendance in 1962: 70,000,000

The British Crown Colony is traditionally a free market without customs duties, without a quota and with remittances freely permitted. The government censors films with a relatively light hand. Completion of Shaw Brothers' Movie Town and resulting productions saw receipts for local productions on upswing as well as more money coming in for exports to Asia. American films comprised 71% of imports.

Producers include Asia Film, Great Wall Movie Enterprises, Motion Picture & General Investment Co., Shaw Bros., Wader Motion Picture and Yung Hwa Studios.

HUNGARY

Number of theatres in operation: About 600 35 mm. and many 16 mm.

Production: About 150 features imported annually. Hungary has produced a number of films which have won festival honors. Have new cartoon facilities. The quality of local production is reflected in the fact that the feature, "Two Confessions," starring Mari Torocsik, and a documentary were entered, and accepted in the 1957 Cannes film festival.

Production, distribution and exhibition of films have been nationalized and are completely under government control.

INDIA

Number of Theatres in Operation: 3,566 permanent, and about 1,440 touring cinemas.

Industry Review: The industry has had to weather a number of storms. The most difficult has been the increase in various taxes imposed by state governments and the central government. Duty on unexposed film and equipment, and the excise duty on processed prints have risen. There has also been increase in local taxes, causing a drop in the number of patrons, although the box office record does not show money-wise.

The impact of the increase in duty has been most significant in the case of foreign imported product—and as the bulk of these come from the U.S. and Britain, these are the most hard hit.

Number of theatres: 750.

Number of features produced: 34.

Number of films imported: 405.

Basic entertainment tax is generally 50% of net with added levy to bring it up to a round figure. Censorship is growing increasingly more strict. Government pressure has kept admittance prices to about 10¢ for class A pictures and there are difficulties in remitting the earnings of imported films.

Strict censorship is exercised. American films are being systematically discouraged while Asian products are encouraged. In addition to heavy taxes numerous distributors suffered confiscation of their bank accounts in return for 20-year bonds whose future is uncertain. Remittances are seldom allowed and then not at the usual exchange rates.

ISRAEL

Number of theatres operating: 230.

Features produced in 1962: Three.

Censorship: Each film has to be licensed by a censorship board, upon payment of IL80/- per picture up to 15 reels, and IL.120/- per picture over 15 reels, including screening fees.

Customs duties: An import duty on films is levied as follows: features, black and white, IL.27/- per kg. net; Technicolor IL.41/- per kg. net; shorts and trailers IL.14/- per kg. net both black and white and Technicolor.

Admission prices: These prices include taxes amounting to approximately 129% of the tickets value. The taxes go to the Government and the municipalities.

Financial exchange regulations: These regulations are very strict. All income of American companies is deposited in blocked accounts, except a fraction of out-of-pocket expenses divided among the American companies working in Israel.

Recent regulations liberalized the import of films at dollar rates according to the prevailing market prices.

Industry organizations: American film companies are organized in the A.M.P.E.A. for Israel under the chairmanship of S. Grinwald. There is an association of independent film distributors and the Cinemas Owners' Association. There is also a producers' organization consisting of independent producers. But there are national institutions as well, which are the most important producers in the country.

ITALY

Number of theatres in operation: There are approximately 18,000 theatres of which 10,500 are commercial, year-round houses, 1,600 are outdoor theatres open during the summer months and 6,000 are church-owned and operated showing mostly 16mm. films. About 70% of the theatres are in towns with less than 20,000 inhabitants while 14% are in cities with over 100,000 population. The average number of patrons for all of Italy is 1,430 per week. For statistical purposes 15 key cities are used: Rome, Milan, Turin, Genoa, Trieste, Padua, Venice, Bologna, Florence, Ancona, Naples, Bari, Catania, Palermo, Cagliari (Sardinia). In these cities the weekly average ranges from a maximum of 116,000 for Rome, to a minimum of 18,600 in Cagliari.

Custom Fees and Other Duties: Present regulations have been in effect since 1950. Duty on foreign films is as follows: Sound track, 4 lira per meter; newsreel, 10 lira per meter; films under 10 mm., 8 lira per meter; from 10 mm. to 35 mm., 60 lira per meter, unless classified as educational in which case it is 5 lira per meter. (The rate of exchange is 620 lira to the U.S. dollar—the meter is approximately three feet.)

The 7-year, non-interestbearing for dubbing pictures from a foreign language into Italian has been abolished.

Admission Taxes: Although government taxes on gross box office receipts are still high, in 1960 after a protracted campaign waged by AGIS and ANICA (respectively a movie-workers and a producer organization), there has been a 25% cut. Present rates are as follows: entertainment tax on tickets up to 100 lira, 20%; from 101 to 200, 35%; from 201 to 300, 40% and from 301 up, 50%.

There is also a sales tax which in 1961 has increased from 3 to 5% on all tickets over 100 lira.

Total admissions paid in 1960: 121 billion lira; 1961, 125.7 billion lira; 1962, 133 billion lira.

Reductions on tickets are granted to members of a government recreational league called ENAL on certain days of the week, except opening nights. Members of the armed forces are also granted a reduction. However, the number of passes formerly distributed among government officials has been sharply curtailed.

Censorship: The present law on film censorship was enacted by Parliament in May 1962. It did away with the old regulations, dating back to 1923, which had been the cause of constant conflicts between industry and the government. While formerly the censorship commission was made up entirely of officials from various government agencies, now it has the following membership: a high court magistrate, professors of law, psychology and pedogogy, representatives of producer organizations and the press. Furthermore, the commission may only pass judgment on matters of morals and decide if the picture is to be restricted to minors under the age of fourteen or of eighteen.

The procedure for the release of films has also been simplified.

Government organizations: Centro Sperimentale di Cinematogafia (Experimental Center), Via Tusculana 832, Rome. JAPAN

Number of theatres in operation: 7,139

Number of features produced in 1962: 375

Number of features imported: 228.

Annual attendance in 1962: 675,000,000.

Seating capacity of Japanese theatres: 3,260,000

Box office income in 1962: $211 million

Japanese Exports: Export pictures earned $3,710,000 falling short of the goal of $4,550,000.

Admission Tax: 10% for tickets over 14¢ with no tax on cheaper admissions.

Breakdown of Revenues: Japanese films netted $85 million while imported films took $28.6 million.

Censorship: The movie industry's self-censorship organ, Eiren, reviewed 857 films in the past year and recommended cuts in 16 domestic films and 9 imports. None were completely banned. Both Japanese and American distributors belong to this body.

Import Restrictions: During 1962 American imports were kept to 135, French 24, Italian 25, British 29, West German 6, Swedish 2, USSR 8 with one each from Poland, Korea, Argentina, Spain, Hong Kong, Yugoslavia, Mexico and Czechoslovakia.

Beginning with fiscal 1963 the Japanese government promised to relax restrictions on film imports provisionally in addition to relaxing limits of purchase price of such films, leading to an expected increase of 18% in imported films. At the same time the freezing in Japan for a certain period of earnings of foreign film distributors was to have been done away with. It was recommended that the present system of granting extra import rights to firms earning foreign exchange by the export of Japanese films be retained.

Trends: A 30% decrease in the number of feature pictures made in 1962 not only reflected the disappearance (for financial reasons) of one of the six major producers but also a desire for quality rather than quantity. For the first time color pictures (199) exceeded black and white (176), and there were more wide-screens—or 70 mm. An average of 1.6 movie theatres were recorded as closing down daily to become pin-ball parlors, super-markets or offices, while no new ones were being built, though in the past year 10 were renovated and re-opened. Despite the lessening number of theatres and a lowering of annual attendance, both exhibitors and distributors reported that business was up due to a drastic lowering of ticket tax and higher prices being charged at the box office. Television still looms as a recurring threat to the movie industry though some feel that the danger which almost inundated the American movie industry at one time is under control in Japan, due perhaps to very few Japanese or imported feature movies ever being shown on Japanese TV. The fact that certain producers of movies also have interests in the TV field may also have something to do with this. Average admission prices rose from 17.2¢ in 1957 to 23.4¢ in 1961 and 30.1¢ in 1962 with reserved seats and road shows running up to $2.22 and $2.78. Japanese-produced pictures's themes were 79% modern and 21% costume dramas and they averaged 12.5 minutes longer than in 1961. There is a slight trend toward co-productions with overseas locations. Japanese film exports are now usually 50% percentage deals instead of the previous 80% flat sales. American pictures imported into Japan showed increased earnings in 1962, as did distribution revenue from other imported films, with "West Side Story" being the biggest money earner.

MALAYA

Number of theatres in operation Singapore and Malaya: In both areas, a total of 270, majority of which are operated by the Cathay Organisation, the Shaw Organisation and the Kong Ngee Organisation.

Attendance: It is estimated some 98,555,000 paid admissions were registered in the year.

Importation of Films: During the period a total of 1,767 films were imported, comprising a total of more than 10,000,000 feet of 35mm footage alone. The majority of films imported were from the United States, Britain, Hongkong, Formosa, India, France, Sweden, West Germany, Japan, Indonesia, and Italy. One important factor about film imports was that while the past government severly restricted the import of films from Red China, the present government has allowed films in from the China mainland. The few films that were shown incidentally were well received and brought good box office dividends specially among the predominant Chinese population of Singapore. The Federation of Malaya does not encourage the import of Chinese films from Communist China for political security reasons.

Censorship: The Board of Film Censors is a Pan Malayan body with its headquarters in Singapore, under the chairmanship of Ramon T. H. Huang of Singapore. It censors all films for public exhibition and every item of publicity pertaining to films. There are, however, separate appeal committees for the two territories. Every cinematograph film and film trailer is subject to censorship and is judged on its own merit. Any visual action or passage of dialogue that may offend the susceptibilities of the normal cinema-going public, specially scenes of violence, excessive brutality, horror, provocative emphasis on sex or sequencies liable to cause anti-social feeling or inflame religious factions are either deleted or moderated before any film is passed for general exhibition. To safeguard this all advertisements, newsreels, technical films and comedy shorts receive the same careful scrutiny as feature films. Under a new directive, from the new government which came into power last year, the Board of Censors have embarked on a deliberate policy to prohibit the exhibition of all films whose primary intent is the glorification or justification of colonialism and which are calculated to bring Asians and so-called colored people generally into contempt, ridicule or hatred.

Custom Duties: Quarter of 60% of the net rental made on films exhibited in Singapore has to be paid without demand to the Singapore government. The Federation of Malaya government, however, imposes an import tax on all exposed cinematograph film, whether positive or negative, whether developed or undeveloped, and whether or not it contains a sound track.

Entertainment Tax: This is worked on a scale and is slightly different in Singapore as compared to the Federation of Malaya. The average governmental tax on tickets is 30%, and supplementary taxes take a further bite.

PAKISTAN

Number of theatres in operation: 423, including two equipped with Todd/AO 70mm, with attendance at 12.12 million and gross after taxes of about 108 million rupees.

Number of imported features during 1962: 343. Import duty remains the same at the rate of 15 paisa per linear foot on foreign films.

Production: 38 pictures produced and released in 1962, averaging in cost Rs. 300,000 to Rs. 500,000. The Government restriction of 12,000 feet length of feature films remains same.

Taxes: The Pakistan film industry is perhaps the heaviest taxed film industry in the world. There are several kinds of taxes, for example: entertainment tax: which is 50% on the cost of admission tickets. A year before this tax, in Karachi only, was 75%. It was reduced in October last to bring it at par with the rest of the Province of the West Pakistan, as Karachi has become a part of the West Pakistan. Sales tax: A 20% sales tax is levied on the contract value of exposed cinematograph films imported from foreign countries, except India. Indian films, which were decertified last year, were permitted exhibition on May 17, 1963. Ban on the fresh import from India will remain for four more years, as recommended by the Film Fact Finding Committee. On publicity material duty varies from 40 to 80% on its invoice value. film storage license fee: Exposed cinematograph film other than safety base, according to the regulation of the Ministry of Industres, requires a film storage license, which is issued by the Chief Inspector of Explosives of that ministry. All non-safety base films are stored in storage house approved by the Government. other levies: Licence and inspection fee for the operation of cinemas, electricity duty, property tax and Rs. 40 per documentary or newsreel, if Government supplies any film for exhibition. Besides, Municipal tax at the rate of Rs. 10 per show is also collected from the Cinemas. Municipal also levies tax on the street publicity banners and on decoration placed on the cinemas.

Censorship: The West Pakistan Board of Film Censors banned 36 foreign feature films during 1962. The Board has its branch in the East wing of the country, at Dacca. The film passed by the West Pakistan Board of Film Censors, has to be re-censored again by the East Pakistan Board of Film Censors and vice versa. Before formation of these Boards, censorship was centralised at Rawalpindi with its branch at Dacca. Films passed by this board however will be valid in East Pakistan.

Government Department: The Film Fact Finding Committee. This Committee was formed two years back to investigate the problems of the home industry and give its suggestions for the betterment of the industry. The Committee has chalked out a very useful programme which if implimented properly will give the home industry a sound and concrete footing. The President's Film Award, which was introduced in 1961 was suspended, due to poor standard of the local movies.

Film Industry Organizations: Since independence the industry has a number of trade bodies and organizations. Pakistan Film Producers Association is supposed to be the prime body of the industry. It has branches in Karachi and Dacca with head office at Lahore. Rattan Cinema Bldg. McLeod Road, Lahore. Pakistan Film Distributors Association, C/o Evergreen Pictures, McLeod Road, Lahore. It also has branches at Karachi and Dacca. Pakistan Film Exhibitors Association, Gulsitan Cinema Bldg. Ramna, Dacca. This association has its branches at Lahore and Karachi. Pakistan Film Artistes Association, 114 Upper Mall, Lahore. Film Press of Pakistan, P. O. Box 7426, Karachi. 3.

PERU

Although television is beginning to cut into movie audiences in Lima, attendance is heavy in the provinces and will be for the foreseeable future. One distributor estimates the Lima attendance down by 20 per cent. There are 140 theatres in Lima with a seating capacity of 140,000. The country, as a whole, has 400 commercial theatres. Because of illiteracy and the lack of other entertainment, motion pictures play an important role in provincial life.

There are 21 distributors of films. All the major United States companies are represented. Commercial distribution is 35mm. There are distributors that handle 16mm films for parish and amateur showings; MGM, for example, distributes its feature length films in 16mm. The Ministry of Education (Peru) and the United States Embassy have libraries of educational films. The American Embassy has seventy 16mm projectors scattered about the country.

Films are censored by a 12-man National Film Board and broken down into seven groups for exhibition. The moral quality of many films granted exhibition is very low. In 1960, 20 films were not licensed; these were mostly French and Swedish products.

Film production in Peru is confined to newsreels and documentary films. The two main documentary producers are Estudio Rosello and Audio-Visual Productions. The latter is an American firm that offers a complete audio-visual service and has its own development laboratories. It produces filmstrips, films, photo murals and displays.

Several of the United States distributors operating in San Juan also ship some of the features and newsreels to U. S. Virgin Islands, Dominican Republic and other adjacent islands where they operate branch offices.

A bill has been introduced in the Puerto Rican legislature to establish a movies censorship board. Customs fees and other duties: U.S. imports pay 2 cents per linear foot. Imports from foreign countries pay the same tax, plus the U.S. tariff duty of one-half cent per linear foot.

SCOTLAND

Television continues to hit film-going in Scotland, but the newest enemy is, without a doubt, Bingo, which has swept small rural and town cinemas before it, closing down film presentations in a new and passing phase of gambling fever. Women filmgoers are addicts more than men. Cinema managements, in many instances, have given up films in favor of Bingo.

While this, however, is regarded as merely a passing phase, the growth of television, particularly in northern and now north-west districts, is having an adverse effect on film-going, and rural cinemas in outlying glens and islands are having to restrict their activities. Only major cinemas are likely to remain, and towns with more than one cinema will, in all probability, be cut down to one.

The desire to see feature films, and particularly those of the "epic" category, is strong, however, and films such as "Lawrence of Arabia," etc., do solid business. Technicolor films and comedies also click at the box office. There are signs of a new life for the International Film Festival at Edinburgh, now part of the major International Festival of Music and Drama, and this is still well supported by the American Government interests, more so, in fact, than by members of the British film trade.

Film production in Scotland is at a minimum. Leading companies send units on location. The Films of Scotland Committee, under chairmanship of Sir Alexander King, cinema magnate, is lively, and pursues an active program. Smaller companies with hopes of producing documentaries are springing up each year. As always, the great need is for more finance to back new productions. Scotland has the scenic backgrounds and, on occasion, the weather, but the lack of coin is a major stumbling block.

SOUTH AFRICA

Number of Cinema Theatres in Operation and Capacities: There is a total of 521 theatres. This figure is inclusive of both fourwallers and drive-ins. Total capacities, calculating 2.5 seats per car for drive-ins is 364,529.

First Run Admissions: First run admissions vary according to classification of feature films as set down by the Majors from their Home Offices. Where no 'specials' or Road Shows are involved, the following can be accepted as a general guide. South African currency quoted—100 Cents to Rand—Rand is 10/—or $1.50 U.S.A.:—

Customs Duties: There are no Import Taxes levied on Motion Picture films entering South Africa. Customs Duties on the importation of films were lifted some four years back.

Theatre Admission Taxes: These vary greatly in each of the Provinces of the Republic of South Africa, each of the Provincial Administrations levying its own assessed taxes. The Cape Province has the highest of all, with the Transvaal, Natal, and the Orange Free State following with lower margins of levies.

Censorship: South Africa, because of its complex race make-up, is one of the most rigidly censor-controlled countries in the world. Where, hitherto, Motion Pictures alone were submitted to close and careful scrutiny for offensive material in its various aspects, a new all-encompassing Act was passed by Parliament here in March 1963. The Publications and Entertainments Bill 1963 covers all material including such subjects as Art; Sculpture; Paintings; Photographs; Magazines; Books and Gramophone Records inter alia.

Distributors: African Consolidated Films, Johannesburg; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Films (S. A.) Pty. It should be recorded at this stage that many smaller production units have made, and are making, sixteen millimeter product for the overseas television market, as well as commercial films for the same purpose.

Government Departments: All the Departments enumerated hereunder are either directly or indirectly connected with films in one form or another.

S. A. Department of Information, Pretoria.

S. A. Tourist Corporation, Pretoria.

S. A. Board of Film Censors—falling under the Department of the Interior and Cabinet Minister Jan de Klerk. Newly appointed Chairman of the Board is Professor D. Berger. All film censorship is done at Cape Town, South Africa's port of entry.

S. A. Department of Education, Arts, and Science the second of the two portfolios held by Senator Jan de Klerk as its Minister. This Department, inter alia, caters, as its name suggests, for the handling of school film exhibition as well as for adult education through the medium of the screen. Instructional films and filmstrips for schools and universities (who also have their own libraries) are provided for, and educational film production is undertaken as well. The Deputy Minister, Mr. Marais Viljoen is currently playing an important part and is extremely active in connection with the planned establishment of a South African National Film Board, which when it comes into full operation in April/May of 1964 will encompass all Government level and official matters relative to the use of the Motion Picture and other photographic details in and for Government administration. It will include under its aegis the first two mentioned sections of this list of Government Departments. As an integral part of the National Film Board will come the South African Film Institute—created for the sole purpose of maintaining archival records and histories of this country. Like the National Film Board of Canada, one of its precepts will be to rouse interest in South Africa by means of travel and other documentary films.

Imports are being cut to save foreign currency.

VENEZUELA

Number of theatres in operation: 650.

Censorship: Censorship boards exist in Caracas for the metropolitan area and in Maracaibo. The cost of censorship in Caracas is Bs 100 plus Bs 50 whenever the picture is played in the Eastern suburbs of the city situated in the State of Miranda. In Maracaibo there are no charges for censorship. The new classifications introduced in April 1961 are as follows: A—general audience; B—for audience over 14 years of age; C—for audiences over 18 years of age.

A Catholic organization classifies pictures more or less in line with the American Legion of Decency.

Customs duties and fees: Processed motion picture film pays an import duty of Bs 2.60 ($.86) a kilo gross weight. Duty on posters was increased in 1959 to Bs 20 ($6) per kilo gross, and on posters to Bs 4.

Admission taxes: In Federal District municipal tax is 10 per cent which is included in the admission price without advice to the public. In other key cities it is from 10 per cent to 20 per cent. In some cases there is tax in the form of exhibition permit stamps.

National Production: One feature was produced in 1961—7° Paralelo by Italian-Venezuelan Coproduction. Two local newsreels are produced weekly and include some advertising. Laboratory facilities are available.

Financial Exchange Regulations: The importation of motion pictures requires a license but there are no difficulties in obtaining this. Shipments worth less than Bs 2,000 do not require a license. Major companies operating on participation basis have a special arrangement with the Government regarding transfers.

Government departments: The municipal governments of the larger cities have a department called Inspectoria de Espectaculos, which supervises all public shows. In Caracas the title of this official is "Inspector General de Espectaculos del Distrito Federal."

Industry Organization: Film Board embracing all American and some other distributors. There is also a Venezuelan Association of Exhibitors which embraces most of the major exhibitors in the country.

YUGOSLAVIA

The Yugoslav Motion Picture industry in comparison with its activities in the past years has shown visible signs of great improvement in all directions: in the increase of the movie theatre number which are in permanent operation. The home production have improved in quality, and the foreign produced films are imported in increased number. The Yugoslav film producing firms rendered services to an increased number of foreign film producing companies and individual producers.

Number of theatres in operation: At the end of 1962 there has been in Yugoslavia 1621 theatres, of which 1,501 are permanent for 35 mm films, 20 travelling, 46 open air units for 35 mm films, and 16 mm films—which are still considered as not commercially profitable.

Censorship: All imported feature and documentary films—all thats for public showing—are subject to censorship. Without the permission of the censorship commission no film can be publically shown in Yugoslavia. The commission, however, has no influence, either on the selection or on the import.

Customs and Fees: The State turnover tax of 30% (used to be 20% since last year when increased by 10%), while in the federal republics of Bosnia & Hercegovina, Macedonia, and Montenegro 20% from the tickets value is collected for the Fund for the improvement of domestic film production, which is stimulating the domestic film production.

Admissions: The price of the tickets vary from 80 to 200 dinars, since the increase of the dollar official exchange rate from 300 to 750 dinars to an American dollar, when the admission tickets have been increased nearly by hundred per cent. The average admission is something over hundred dinars (over 8 cents), because it is purposely arranged that there is more, about 7 per cent cheaper places.

Distributions. The distribution of domestic and imported films is done by six specialized distributing enterprises, with the seats in Belgrade, Zagreb, Ljubljana, Skoplje, Sarajevo and Budva (for the republic of Montenegro). Each distributing enterprise has right to distribute its imported films on the whole territory of Yugoslavia.

The import of films: "Yugoslavia-Film in the course of 1962 imported from many foreign countries for its clients, Yugoslav distributors, 200 feature films, 130 "shorts" and great number of special films for the television.

The exports of films: In the last four years the export of Yugoslav domestically produced films is steadily increasing. In 1959 Yugoslavia exported films valued to $350,000, in 1960 the exports went to $500,000, in 1962 it reached $650,000. These figures include the income from the films produced in Yugoslavia in coproduction with the foreign partners. Considerably important income comes from the "shorts".

The main exporter of Yugoslav domestic films is "Yugoslavia-Film," commercial union which in its members grouped Yugoslav producing and distributing enterprises.

Producers: The average production of feature films ranges from 25 to 30 annually and between 180-200 shorts and documentaries annually. In above numbers the coproduced films have not been included, nor the films produced in Yugoslavia for foreign interesting firms.

The producers of Yugoslav films are as follows:
Avala-Film, Belgrade, Danube-Film, Belgrade,
Jadran, Zagreb and Zora Film, Zagreb.
Triglav and Viba Flim, Ljubljana.
Vardar-Film, Skoplje.
Bosna-Film and Sutjeska-film, Sarajevo.
Lovcen-Film, Budva (Montenegro).

Co-production (mixed) deals with foreign producers: In mixed deals in film production the coproductions, rendering services in shooting foreign films by foreigners and financial participation in shooting the foreign films are included. The participation of Yugoslav Motion Picture industry in these deals is considerably big lately and is in steady increase. The advantages offered by Yugoslav Motion Picture to foreign partners is very significant—to start with in reasonable prices, valuable aid, effectness of Yugoslav partners, which in the coproduction cases so far have given excellent proofs of good organization and keeping to fixed dates of operation. Beside that climatic and geographical conditions in Yugoslavia are so good that they attract more and more the foreign producers. In such good cooperation the coproduction are in making as are Long Ships with the Warwick Film productions (London) in the distribution of Columbia International, than Tempesta with Director Dino de Laurentiis, Lafayette (UFA-Camacico), and many others.
